REVIVAL OF COMMERCE.

The following table is given to show the extraordinary revival of coast commerce at the port of New York alone, since the war closed:

	Number.	Tonnage.
New York to Boston, &c.	15	11,561
New York to Providence	4	4,940
New York to Portland	2	1,175
New York to Baltimore	7	7,275
New York to Washington, &c.	6	2,735
New York to Richmond, &c.	5	1,459
New York to Beaufort, &c.	2	997
New York to Newbern	6	2,150
New York to Wilmington	9	6,535
New York to Charleston	11	7,913
New York to Savannah	9	7,182
New York to Mobile	6	3,872
New York to Apalachicola	2	800
New York to New Orleans	33	49,104
New York to Galveston	4	2,831
Total	121	113,529

This is what New York has accomplished within a few months. In the enumeration, moreover, no notice has been taken of the large and magnificent steamships that are plying thence to Vera Cruz, Aspinwall and Havana, nor of the many ships, brigs, barks and schooners that are daily loading and leaving for some port on our coast. If every vessel, both steam and sailing, that is engaged in this business could be ascertained, the total number would not fall far short of 300 vessels.

The Boston Post says since the war closed the commerce of that city has largely increased, and that paper gives an elaborate description of the new lines running South and East from that port. The whole number is forty steamers, the united measurment of which is 46,071 tons.

DANGER TO AMERICAN INTERESTS.

The following extract from a letter from one of our most distinguished representatives in England has been recently received. It shows conclusively what efforts are being made to break down our labor market; that the builders of British pirate steamers may do our manufacturing while our returned heroes are patroling the streets, asking for employment which our manufacturers cannot furnish:

"Great efforts will now be made by English capitalists and manufacturers to induce us to reduce our tariffs and permit them to do all our manufacturing. They are beginning to stir this matter already. Our warm personal friends will be put forward to move the matter—such men as John Bright, Goldwin Smith, and others, who have stood by us through this war. I have seen decisive evidence of this purpose here. Personally we owe them very much, but we may frightfully abominate their free trade principles. They will struggle hard to break down our tariff. See if this does not prove true. There will be a terrible pressure upon the Government."

So it appears that our British "warm personal friends," after having destroyed nearly two-thirds of our manufacturing interests, and thrown thousands of our workmen out of employment, are preparing, with the hearty co-operation of our ex-rebel interest, to deal a finishing blow to the remaining third.

The New York Times makes out that three thousand one hundred and eighty-one persons lost their lives, and nine hundred and thirty-five other persons suffered bodily injuries by accidents, upon American railroads or steamboats, or by explosions of powder magazines or the fall of buildings, in America, during the period between the close of the war for the Union and the 31st ultimo—just five months. These figures, supposing the whole year to represent a similar record, would give a total of seven thousand six hundred and thirty-two deaths, and two thousand two hundred and forty-four persons wounded within the space of twelve months.

WASHINGTON, September 6.

Muster out of General Officers.

There is good authority for stating that another order for mustering out a number of General officers of the volunteer forces is being prepared by the War Department. Some of the single and double starred gentry here are becoming rather nervous in consquence.

From the 1st of May last until the 31st of August, four months, $192,542,005 49 was drawn from the Treasury by the Pay Department for the payment of the soldiers.

Another order directing the immediate muster out of thirty-four regiments and parts of regiments was issued yesterday by the War Department. Among the list are the following: 61st, 153d, 148th, 154th, 155th and 156th Illinois Infantry; 44th, 143d, 148th, and 157th Indiana; 22d and 24th Iowa; 9th, 11th, 29th and 1st Michigan Engineers and Mechanics; 2d Missouri cavalry, and 52d infantry; consolidated, the 51st, and 1st Minnesota Heavy Artillery; 180th and 188th Ohio Infantry, and Co. L, 1st Cavalry; 58th and 8th Pennsylvania; 47th Wisconsin Infantry, and Co. C, 1st Heavy Artillery; 68th and 11th Kentucky Cavalry.

Hon. Isaac N. Arnold

Sixth Auditor, returned last evening, and this morning resumed the duties of his office.

Hon. James Monroe,

Of Oberlin, Ohio, secretary of the American Legation at Rio de Janeiro, arrived here to-day, with dispatches to the Government from Minister Webb.

The Receipts from Internal Revenue

To-day amounted, in round numbers, to one million six hundred thousand dollars.

The First National Bank of Dubuque, Iowa, has been designated as a depository for public monies.

Highly Interesting.

Falling Off in the Revenue Receipts.

Nearly Another Collision.

Arrival of Foreign Railway Men

NEW YORK, September 6.—The Post's special says the receipts from the Internal revenue, yesterday, fell back to the old average of a million and a quarter dollars.

Gen. Meade, having completed the inspection of his Military Division, is now on his way North.

We are informed there was another narrow escape from collision on the Long Island railroad, on Monday. The coupling on a train broke, leaving a car filled with passengers behind. After a while the train returned for the dissevered car, but before it started, another train came thundering down in the rear. The correspondent asked the conductor if he had taken any measures to prevent a collision, and he said that it would be all right, and forthwith a brakeman with a lantern, was sent backward toward the approaching train, which was stopped a few rods from the rear car. Meantime, all the passengers had jumped out of the car and fled across the adjoining fields. The train as usual, was behind time.

The Express says: The Scotia brought out the railway men previously mentioned. The whole party will leave for the West by a special train on the Erie road to-morrow afternoon. This party will go through to St. Louis by the way of the Erie and Atlantic and Great Western and Ohio and Mississippi roads, making a special inspection of the Atlantic and Great Western road on their trip. These gentlemen will probably pass over all of our principal railroads before their return to Europe. The Marquis of Salamanca and Duke De Rienzir are represented in the party by Monsieur Lillo, the French banker.

The Erie directors had a meeting to-day, and after business was over Messrs. McHenry, Saterthwaite, Kennard and Sir Morton Pete were introduced. These gentlemen had a plain but informal talk with the Erie managers. They stated substantially that they wanted a double track, broad guage, from New York to St. Louis, and were willing to furnish money for Erie to complete their road in this respect. They intend to double the track of the Atlantic and Great Western, but there is no use in this unless the Erie does the same. They want the Erie and Atlantic and Great Western to be integral roads, and both of them placed on the same footing.

Professor Lowe, and the gentleman who accompanied him on his balloon ascension, Monday, descended safely, near Hackensack Creek, in New Jersey, the same evening.

FROM MEXICO.

NEW YORK, September 6.—The Tribune's Brownsville, Texas, correspondent recently had an interview with Gen. Cortinas, whom he found as sanguine as ever of the success of the Mexican Liberals in their struggle to preserve their nationality. He said the United States could not continue at peace with Maximilian, whereas if the old form of government was restored, the two countries would live in friendship. Signor Roderigua, late chief of the Treasury of Tamaulipas, was present, and he said the people were in a state of insurrection, and only wanted a centre of union to enable them to act in a body.

Gen. Negrette, he said, was Secretary of War, and was at present with President Juarez organizing a body of men. He tried to make things look hopeful for the Liberal side, and spoke well but it is evident that unless the United States openly takes sides with the Liberal party, there is no hope of them forcing their enemies from power.

A great many of our officers in Texas are sending in their resignations according to invitation from the Government. A large number of these resignations come from the officers of the negro troops. The break bone fever which has left no one untouched, is now abating.

On the 12th Gen. Steele visited Gen. Robeles of the Mexican army in return for a similar compliment the latter.

The term of the 27th and 28th Wisconsin Volunteers being up, they have been ordered to be mustered out.

From San Francisco—The State Election.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 5.—There has been no news from the Shenandoah since the arrival of the Nile.

Three small vessels were recently purchased in this city, to be employed as whalers. Four vessels are up for Hong Kong, charging six dollars for freight.

The annual State election takes place to-morrow for Supreme Judge and members of Legislature, who will elect a successor of Senator McDougall. The contest is confined principally to the rival divisions in the Union party, favoring different Senatorial candidates. In San Francisco three tickets are running, viz: the regular Democratic, the regular Union, and the independent Union, the latter representing the interest of the people's party in regard to local legislative affairs. The contest is a very spirited and bitter one.

From Savannah.

NEW YORK, September 6.—The Savannah Herald of the 2d is received.

Nominating meetings continue to be held in various counties. In Effingham county, a meeting adopted resolutions that they would faithfully support and defend the Union, Constitution, and laws thereof, and that the results of the late unhappy civil war should be made the means of solidifying our Government, strengthening the bond of Union, and rendering any future attempt on the part of unprincipled politicians at ruin and bloodshed, utterly impossible.

Middling cotton is quoted at 35@36c.

From Fortress Monroe.

FT. MONROE, September 6.—Jeff. Davis has so far recovered from his attack of erysipelas, as to be able to resume his accustomed daily walks.

The brig Nellie arrived in Norfolk from Funk's Island with a cargo of iron consigned to Cyrus E. Stapts. This is the first arrival of the kind since the war.

Henry A. Wise passed here to-day for the Eastern shore of Virginia.

The steamer Cora arrived from City Point with the 12th Indiana regiment, Col. J. W. Orr, bound for home via Baltimore.

Wool Manufacturer's Association.

PHILADELPHIA, September 6.—The National Association of Wool Manufacturers, originating at Springfield, Massachusetts, held their first annual meeting here at the Board of Trade Rooms this morning. E. M. Bigelow, of Boston, President. The association numbers two hundred members. They will partake of a grand banquet at the Continental Hotel this evening.

Arrest of Pittsburgh Thieves in Canada.

TORONTO, September 6. — Robinson and Brown, known as the Pittsburgh burglars, were arrested here last night while attempting to rob the residence of Mr. Druillard. The police had previously received information of their intention and trapped them. There have been several attempts at robbery lately. They were suspected.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

The Dunkirk Union says: There is, among parties most likely to be correctly informed, a very decided conviction that the contemplated railroad from some point near Dunkirk to the Pennsylvania Oil Region, will speedily be constructed. A few days since Messrs. Mayor Fargo of Buffalo, Mr. Butterfield of Utica, Dr. Streeter of Cleveland, and Mr. Struthers of Warren, Pennsylvania, passed over portions of the proposed route with a view to the location of the road.

The owners of a peat bed near Batavia, says the Rochester Union, obtained permission to make an experiment with a locomotive on the Central Railroad. Engine 95, running between Batavia and Canandaigua, was selected and yesterday the trial was made. Twenty-eight hundred pounds of peat were put into the tender and the ordinary passenger train was drawn to Canandaigua and returned. The fuel was only a little more than half consumed. The engineer thought he could run to Canandaigua and half way back with what he had left in the tender. The distance run yesterday was 102 miles. The result shown is that 2,800 pounds of peat will run an engine about 175 miles. This is a very satisfactory result, and may warrant the introduction of peat for fuel on the railroads.

Statistics of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Pennsylvania.

The Journal of the Convention of the Episcopal Church for 1865, (an octavo pamphlet of 350 pages, which has just appeared,) represents that Church to be in a very prosperous and encouraging condition in this Diocese. This being the year of the meeting of the General Convention, the journal contains, according to canonical provision, a tabular view of the state of the Church for the last three years, from which we gather the following particulars:

There have been during that time

Candidates for Orders	42
Deacons ordained	31
Presbyters ordained	25
Clergymen deceased	14
Clergymen now residing in the Diocese	233
New Parishes	19
Present number of Parishes	320
Churches consecrated	20
Confirmations	5,135
Communicants added	6,098
Present number of communicants	22,641
" " S. S. Scholars	29,053

CONTRIBUTIONS.

To Diocesan, Domestic and Foreign Missions	$111,151 79
To Episcopal and Convention Funds, General, Diocesan and miscellaneous charities of the Church	963,120 83
Total contributions of three years	$1,074,272 62

These stand against $617,511 90, for the previous three years of 1860, '61 and '62, showing an increase of $456,760 72, and making an average of $350,000 for each year.

The General Convention meets on the 4th day of October, in St. Luke's Church, Philadelphia, for the opening of religious services. The subsequent business meeting will be held in St. Andrew's Church, on account of the better accommodations which it furnishes for the House of Bishops.

The Rebel Secretary Benjamin.

The Richmond Republic says this absconding rebel is in Havana. How he made his escape, it does not know, but doubts not, the means were all provided with deliberation. The Republic speaks thus of the Ex-Rebel Secretary: But for the moral obliquity of Benjamin he might have figured as one of the first statesmen in American councils. He is a great lawyer, and one of the most eloquent of speakers. His arguments and sophistries in vindication of the right of secession led astray many men of ordinarily sound judgments and good dispositions. But he seems to have been destitute of principle in both public and private life, and a safe counsellor for no one on earth but himself. That he can take care of Judah P. Benjamin there is no manner of doubt. We can fancy him sitting in his comfortable quarters in Havana, with that stereotyped smile on his mouth, calmly reading the accounts of the misery and ruin which he, as much as any other man, has brought upon the South. None of his friends need fear that he will die of remorse or go and hang himself. He would hold himself in thorough contempt if he could lose one night's sleep on account of the miseries of all the rest of the human race. He looks upon the South as he would look upon any other client whom he had led into an expensive and disastrous lawsuit. The whole matter is purely professional. If he has got his fee from his client he feels that there is no occasion for self-reproach. A comfortable dinner every day and a tussel with a tiger every night will console that retired statesman from all the sorrows of mankind.

Searching for the Wreck of the Pewabic.

The steamer Magnet, which has for some time past been searching for the wreck of the lost Pewabic, has given it up for the present, and returned to Detroit. Owing to the time consumed every morning in arranging the sweeps necessary for dragging, which at the close of the day had again to be taken in, to have the passage clear for vessels or steamers during the night, not more than three hours remained in which to accomplish anything. The new aparatus used for diving worked admirably, and was frequently tested at a depth of 147 feet, the diver remaining under from eighteen to twenty minutes. During his meanderings at this great depth, he at no time was enabled to discover any trace of the lost vessel or anything belonging to her. So intense was the effects of the cold at the above depth of water, that the diver on being brought to the surface, was in a partially benumbed state. The locality searched by the Magnet was a distance varying from six to ten miles from the land, and, at the latter distance, trees of immense size were found lying promiscuously on the bottom, and to all appearance in a petrified condition. Further search for the treasure or other effects lost on board the ill-fated craft may now be considered as abandoned, or, at least, useless.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

Production of Liquors.

The liquors distilled in the United States during the year ending January 1, 1860, according to the census returns, are as follows:

	No. gallons.
New England States	1,028,900
Middle States	37,188,199
Western States	14,746,198
Southern States	1,241,131
California and Oregon	803,265
Aggregate in the United States	88,000,993

The present consumption of the whole Union is fully as great as in 1860, and if the excise of $2 per gallon could be collected, the revenue therefrom would amount to $176,000,000, or enough to pay the interest on the entire national debt when all the legal tenders are reduced to bonds and all the floating debt is funded. But the revenue actually derived from this source is not one-tenth this amount. All the rest is lost by illicit distillation, smuggling, &c.

JUDICIAL CELERITY.—Here is an example, set by Boston, which may be safely followed anywhere:—Van Weimar, Northedge, Shaw and Dolan were soldiers charged with brutally violating the person of Elizabeth Bates. The offense was committed on the 13th of August. The offenders were arrested on the same night. A special session of the Grand Jury was ordered and an indictment found. The respondents were brought to trial on the 23d of August. The trial was commenced at 9 o'clock A. M. On account of the absence of witnesses for the defense, a recess was taken, and the proceedings resumed at 10.25, A. M. The Government rested its case at 3 o'clock, P. M., and the Court took another recess of one hour. The defense was then opened, and fifteen witnesses were examined and cross examined. The prisoners' counsel then occupied forty-five minutes in closing to the jury. The District Attorney followed. At 8.45 P. M. Judge Russell began to charge the jury, and at the close allowed them a reasonable time for supper. At 10.20 P. M. the jury came in with a verdict of guilty. Judge Russell, without adjournment, at once sentenced all the respondents to imprisonment at hard labor for life.

SENATOR SHERMAN, of Ohio, made a speech on Thursday at Ravenna. As to the Democratic cry for the taxation of the United States bonds, the Senator (who is Chairman of the Senate's Finance Committee) said that such tax cannot be laid upon the bonds by States and municipalities without reversing the often re-affirmed decisions of the Supreme Court, and affecting the constitutional power of the Government to borrow money on the credit of the United States. He regarded the proviso in the loan laws exempting the bonds from State and municipal taxation as no more than a notification to the holders of their legal rights, and that no such tax could have been levied by the States, even had the proviso not been inserted; in this opinion following the decisions of the Supreme Court, and the reasoning of Chief Justice Marshall.

FREEDOM OF THOUGHT.—Notwithstanding the contrary orders of the Catholic Bishop at St. Louis, the Fenians of that city turned out in formidable numbers on Sunday to attend the funeral of one of their officials. The procession was over two miles long. An oration was delivered at Mozart Hall, by James J. McBride, of St. Louis. Peter Dailey, Head Center of the Fenians of Illinois, was drowned at St. Louis on Saturday.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Maine Democrat says that the father of Jeff. Davis was born in Maine, and went South when he had nearly arrived at manhood. He was not afterward heard of, until Jeff. Davis visited Maine some years ago, when he stated, in conversation with a friend, that his father was born in Boston, and had arrived in Mississippi a poor boy. The writer says Davis' parents were not married.

OIL INTELLIGENCE.

Another Big Well on Pithole.

The Largest on the Creek.

NEW OIL TERRITORY IN OHIO.

Interesting from Pithole.

Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Commercial.
PITHOLE CITY, September 4, 1865.

The past week has been an exciting one at this place. On Wednesday morning last, the "Homestead" well, on the Hiner Farm, ceased flowing. It is supposed by good judges that it was caused by a well being bored on the Morey Farm, close by, which is now about six hundred feet deep, and that the water flooded the "Homestead" well. On Saturday the superintendent had the lower valve taken out of the well, which has always been in, and the engine put in order to pump her, and they are still in hopes that she will flow in a short time. I fear they will be disappointed, at least until the well on the Morey Farm is tubed, when I think she will again flow. The "Homestead" has, since February last, flowed daily about six hundred barrels, and was one of the finest wells on Pithole Creek. It is principally owned by a Boston company and a young man named Shepley Moorhead, from Freeport, Armstrong county, who put the well down, and still retains one-seventh in her, as well as the same interest in fifty acres, fee simple, and known as the 'Hiner' Farm. He is one of the most successful gentlemen in the oil regions.

In my last, I mentioned that No. 54 "Holmden" Farm, was flowing about 200 barrels; on Thursday last, the sucker rods were taken out of the well, and she is now flowing 1,600 barrels, some say 1,800, but at all events, she is the largest well on the "Holmden" or on the Creek. A gentleman named Pool secured the lease and put the well down, and has a large interest in her. I also notice that a number of Westmorelanders are lucky enough to have an interest also. Among them I learn that W. W. Logan, C. J. Walton, Wm. Welsh, Wm. Evans, Robt. Black, E. B. McClellan, and a Mr. Loucks, all the above named county are largely interested. Twenty-five thousand dollars was offered on Saturday last for one-sixteenth in the well. It could have been purchased three weeks ago for about $1,000. Thirty-two thousand five hundred dollars was paid for one-sixteenth in No. 19 "Holmden" Farm the past week.

I am informed by Robert B. Foote, Esq., Superintendent of the "Twin Wells," that a dividend was declared for the month of August, and paid to the stockholders, on the 31st ult., of $500 to the sixteenth. John J. B. Fink, has three-sixteenths, D. Connell, of Connellsville, Fayette county, three-sixteenths, James R. Wade, two-sixteenths, Alexander W. Kilgore, two-sixteenths, and several others that I cannot name, own the same. So you see that oil interests pay pretty well. The same dividend, and perhaps more, will be paid monthly.

I am informed by reliable authority that the celebrated United States well has fallen off in her yield over three hundred barrels; she is not flowing more than five hundred barrels at present, and for the last six months, she has flowed from eight hundred to nine hundred barrels.

The Chase House is to be opened to-morrow; it was first named the Patchin House, but another party purchased it, and it has been named the Chase. G. R. Chase, Esq., is the proprietor, and it will be the hotel of the place. This place has sprung up as by magic, but it has now some of the finest hotels in the country, and the hundreds who daily visit this place of places, will find everything comfortable and neat by stopping at the Chase House or the St. Nicholas.

A large number of Westmorelanders have been here the past week, investing largely in oil interests. I notice Gen. C. P. Markle, Col. Israel Painter, A. M. Fulton, Esq., Wm. Jack, George Doran, Wm. Dickson, W. W. Logan, and a number of others, all purchasing interests on Pithole.

The tools, rope, &c., in well No. 2, Hiner Farm, and owned principally by the Homestead Company, are fast, and after a week's work they have been unable to get them out. They are down 600 feet.

No. 7, "Hiner" Farm, has been tubed and tested, and makes a very good show. The well is owned by John J. B. Fink, D. Connell, James R. Wade, C. S. Wade, J. Beam, Mr. Fox and John Morey, all largely interested in the oil trade.

Oil is selling at $3 per barrel, with a profit of a higher figure. The COMMERCIAL is the paper here. J. F. C.

Oil Discovery in Columbiana, Ohio.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.
COLUMBIANA, September 4, 1865.

Columbiana county, Ohio, is destined to be one of the best oil territories discovered. The few wells that have been put down have been good ones; not a single failure as yet. There are several wells being put down on the middle fork of Beaver Creek, and oil procured in two wells on that stream last week. They are putting in the tubing to pump them. The Columbiana Petroleum Company struck oil on last Friday at the depth of two hundred and twenty feet. They have a good show, and are preparing to tube and pump it. Their well is located at the mouth of Elk Run, which empties into the middle fork of Beaver, about eighty miles from the town of Columbiana at a place called Elkton, the junction of the New Lisbon and Ashtabula Railroad, which is completed from where it crosses the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway to New Lisbon, and they expect to finish it to Elkton this season. So they will have splendid opportunities for shipping their oil. The oil is of the best lubricating quality yet discovered. The company have purchased and leased a large quantity of oil territory, and are about making a joint stock company, and selling some of their interests in the oil territory. The well will be tubed and pumped this week, I expect. If so, I shall endeavor to give you the results. K. T.

Huntingdon county is bound to reward her soldiers, and have nominated on the Union ticket all soldiers, comprising four private soldiers, two Sergeants and two Lieutenants. One lost his right leg, another his right arm and another his left arm. That's the way to reward returned soldiers by the patriots who remained at home.

Mr. E. A. Stevens is about to commence a weekly newspaper at Tidioute.

Major Will. A. Stokes, of Westmoreland county, has gone to Europe, to be absent one year, during which time he will make the tour of France, Germany and Italy.

Mrs. Burger, an old lady of 80 years, was arrested a few days since, in Beaver county, for assault and battery on a Mrs. White. She lives in Hanover township, in that county, and walked the distance (about twenty miles) into Beaver to attend court. The grand jury ignored the bill, and the old lady departed in peace.

The whisky seized by the Collector of the 24th District from John Deer, in Bridgewater, Beaver county, was sold last week by the Marshal, together with the distillery, &c. The whisky brought $2 25 per gallon.

M. S. Johns has been re-elected Burgess of New Brighton, Beaver county, by seventy-two majority, over S. Hunter Democrat.

D. U. Hill, of Leechburg, Indiana county, is about to send to Barnum a huge tooth, found on the farm of Jacob Hill, Allegheny township, Westmoreland county. From the appearance of the tooth the animal must have been of immense size and strength, and its race doubtless extinct. The circumference of the tooth is nineteen inches; length, eight inches; width, five inches; depth, ten inches, and formerly much more. The weight is precisely five pounds.

The Washington County Mutual Insurance Company have elected the following directors: Alexander Murdoch, John C. Hastings, James B. Ruple, David Aiken, William J. Matthews, John Grayson, Jr., Lewis Barker, John W. Lockhart, Vachel Harding, John Wylie, Samuel K. Weirich, John McElroy, William S. Moore.

All the ornamental painters in Philadelphia are busy, and for weeks past have been "busy as nailers" getting up new equipments for the firemen, or burnishing up the old ones equal to new, in anticipation of the coming parade. The manufacturers of equipments in Philadelphia and New York have had more orders on hand than they could fill.

DECISION BY SECRETARY OF TREASURY.

Compound Interest Bearing Notes.

Documentary Evidence from Rebel Archives.

Davis Authorized the Andersonville Cruelties.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial.
WASHINGTON, September 6.

The Secretary of the Treasury.

Has decided in the case of the recently appointed Collector of Customs, at Georgetown, South Carolina, who would not take the prescribed oath, in consequence of having participated in the rebellion, that he, and similar appointees may receive their commission, and perform the duties of the position, until Congress sits, taking the risk of provision being then made for their payment.

It may be some consolation to different officers to know that has never settled his accounts for ordnance as Colonel of the 21st Illinois Volunteers.

General Grant

Of the fifty millions in

Compound Interest Bearing Notes

ordered by Treasurer Spinner, in place of similar notes on which several months interest has accrued, thirty-five millions nine hundred and sixty thousand have already been issued.

Documentary Evidence.

Taken from the rebel archives, showing that Davis Seddons, and other leading rebels, were cognizant of and authorized the Andersonville Cruelties.

Is now in the hands of the Judge Advocate of the Wirz Commission, and will probably be presented to-morrow.

New York Democratic Convention.

SPEECH OF HON. C. H. WINFIELD.

Who are to be the Candidates.

ALBANY, September 6.—The Democratic State Convention assembled here this afternoon. Hon. Charles H. Winfield was chosen President pro tem, and proceeded to address the meeting. The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the organization known as the Tammany Hall organization is the regular organization of the Democracy of New York, and that the delegates claiming seats here under that organization have been regularly elected delegates to this convention.

John A. Green, of the committee on permanent organization, submitted the following, which was adopted unanimously: For President, Hon. James M. Humphrey, of Erie. Eight vice presidents were chosen, and on taking the chair Mr. Humphrey said:

Gentlemen of the Convention:—For the unsolicited and unexpected honor of being called to preside over your deliberations, please accept my sincere thanks. When I glanced over the list of delegates to the Convention and saw the name of Horatio Seymour, who has been our standard bearer and our champion in making a well fought battle for constitutional rights, I had supposed that he above all others would be called to the chair. In his absence I shall, to the best of my ability, discharge the duties this position imposes. We are assembled, under the call of a time-honored organization, but not as partizans. We are here as representatives of that large class of citizens, who are, and always have been, obedient to the Constitution and the laws, and determined that they shall be respected by the people and rulers alike. The war for national integrity, having been brought to a successful issue, it is our duty as American citizens to address ourselves to the task of restoring, after the waste of a terrible conflict, the blessing of civil government to the people in all sections of our common country. To this end, it is of vital importance to the Empire State, which has furnished more men and money for the suppression of the rebellion and restoration of peace and Union, than any of her sister States, shall stand in the front rank in the struggle for the supremacy of the constitutional government over military domination. The war has done its work. It now remains for statesmanship to solve the problem of bringing people into harmony with our Democratic system. The efforts of the President in this regard are deliberately and maliciously opposed by a faction which asserts that the Southern States are mere territorial dependencies, thus not only declaring that secession is an accomplished fact, but proposing an amendment of the Constitution to record the falsehood in an original law. So far as the policy of President Johnson towards the people of the South has been developed, it is in accordance with Democratic principles. He holds with us, that the Union has never been dissolved; that the protracted acts of secession are null and void; that the States exist with all their dignity, equality and rights, unimpaired; that the citizens of all the States who acknowledge their allegiance to the Federal Government have a right to form their constitutions to regulate for themselves the electoral franchise, without interference by the United States authorities or Northern revolutionists, to be represented in Congress, and, in brief, to resume their proper relations with the General Government. The President holds further with us, that the attempt to force negro equality upon the people of the States, is in derogation of the Constitutional right which they have exercised, from the formation of the Government to the present time. In these positions, President Johnson should be unhesitatingly sustained, because he is clearly and unmistakably right. While we thus endorse the President, not of our choosing, we abate nothing of our previous declarations of Democratic principles. The stand for the supremacy of civil over military rule for the indefeasible rights of trial by jury, of habeas corpus, of freedom of religious opinion, and opposed to all usurpations of power and infraction of privileges. The war has created that national curse, a great national debt, and to the end that public faith may be kept and public credit preserved, we demand that the expenses of the Government shall be reduced, that it shall be administered honestly and economically, and the burdens of taxation shall be made to bear equally upon all the property of the country. Congress shall provide that in the permanent financial policy of the country when adopted there shall be no exemption from the obligations to pay taxes for the support of the Government. In our rejoicings at the return of peace, we should not forget that primarily, our thanks are due to the brave soldiers who have carried aloft the flag of our nationality in so many fields of blood and death—those who have offered their lives a willing sacrifice on the altar of their country as well as those who have returned to share with us the rights and privileges of a free Government. They are pre-eminently entitled to our confidence and to our protection. With the close of the war, the issues which have divided the conservative Government, have become absolute. As one of its results, slavery has been overthrown, never to be re-established. Recognizing this among the patent facts, it is the duty of all true lovers of the Union and the Constitution, to unite in the effort to restore the spirit of brotherly love and mutual confidence, without which the mission of the Republic can never be accomplished. It will be my pleasure to co-operate with the other members of this Convention in the discharge of this patriotic duty.

Mr. Reed offered a resolution endorsing the platform adopted by the Democrats of Maine, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

On motion of Mr. Haskin, this motion was referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

The Convention reassembled at 7 o'clock, but the Committee on Resolutions not being ready to report, the Convention adjourned till to-morrow morning.

Major General Slocum, now on service in Vicksburg, is now spoken of, and will probably be the candidate for Secretary of State. A letter is here from the General, setting forth his political views; stating his willingness to accept the nomination, provided the platform of the party concurs with his views. These views are understood to be in substance the endorsement of President Johnson's policy of reorganization. The New York delegation are urging the nomination of John B. Haskins for Attorney General, but the chances are strongly in favor of Samuel J. Tilden. John Van Buren is talked of by some.

Jeff. Davis permitted to Correspond with his Family.

NEW YORK, September 6.—The Herald's Fortress Monroe correspondent states that Jeff. Davis, who hitherto has been denied permission to communicate with his family, is now allowed to write to his wife. With this new concession, and the privilege of reading some of the daily papers, he says he has nothing left to complain of except loss of liberty and the delay in bringing him to trial. Of course all his letters are supervised by General Miles before being sent away.

The Norfolk and Weldon railroad will be in running order in a few days. A large number of workmen are employed in putting the road in order, and all the needed rolling stock is on hand.

The Herald's special says: The Cabinet meeting was prolonged to an unusual extent to-day. All the members were in attendance till half-past four o'clock, excepting Mr. Stanton, and he was represented by Major Eckert, Assistant Secretary of War. It was nearly five o'clock before they all departed from the White House. Maj. Gen. Webster, late chief of staff to Gen. Sherman, returned this afternoon from an extended tour of inspection of the Southern railroads, and states that he found them in rather better condition than was expected under the circumstances, but none are in really good condition. All of them will be in operation in a few months he thinks, but they will be compelled to adopt a low schedule of time at first.

Col. Burbridge, of Ky., was yesterday appointed United States Treasury Agent for the State of Texas, and intends to leave to-day for the scene of his new labor.

THE WIRZ TRIAL.

More of His Inhuman Barbarities.

The Testimony all in Harmony.

WASHINGTON, September 6.—After the record of yesterday was read, Mr. Baker asked the Court to disregard testimony in answer to the leading questions by the Judge Advocate, and also of rumors or hearsay evidence, which has nothing to do with the case. The official reporter made a minute of Baker's suggestion.

James Adler testified to instances of suffering of the sick, similar to those heretofore narrated by other witnesses. He mentioned the case of a man who had been assassinated. His throat had been torn to pieces. Wirz said it served the "d—d scoundrel right." The man died on the spot the same day. The witness also narrated the case of a sick man who asked for food. Wirz struck him over the head with a riding whip. The man went into fits and died two days afterward. Of thirty men who accompanied witness to prison, twelve died. He heard Wirz tell a sentinel to fire at a man who crossed the dead line, and instructed him to fire whether the man was over the dead line or not. The sentinel shot the man in the breast.

Wm. H. Jennings, a colored soldier, testified that his wound was not dressed after he was taken to Andersonville. He was whipped by order of Wirz. Turner, the man who had charge of the dogs, gave him thirty lashes on the bare back. He was then put in the stocks for a night and day, with nothing to eat or drink. He could not walk. Witness saw a man who had been shockingly bitten in the head by dogs, and died soon after.

Thomas Way, belonging to an Ohio regiment, testified that he was punished for fifteen minutes by being tied by his thumbs, his toes barely touching the ground. He attempted to escape, and was captured, encountering Wirz. The latter said, "Vel, you's back again." Witness replied, "I guess so," when Wirz continued, "I'm going to take care of you dis time; I'll put you in the stocks four days." Witness said in a joke, "I had rather be carried than walk," when Wirz replied "You G—d d—d s—n of a b—h if you give me any of your lip I will shoot you." Wirz then put him in the stocks four days longer. His head and feet were fastened in the stock, his back on the ground, and his face exposed to the sun. The punishment was inflicted because he had attempted to make his escape. He knew personally about the hounds, as he had been captured. Another of the escaping party climbed a tree, but was caught and brought back. This was in the latter part of August, 1864. Turner, who was with the houds, said, "good for you sons of b—s, I wish the hounds had torn you to pieces." Witness said he was bucked, and did not know but he deserved it for being late at roll call. He explained at some length bucking and gagging, and gave his experience in the chain-gang in September, 1864. While forming line, a sick man could not find his place, and ran up to the head of the line, where he was met by Wirz with the exclamation, you G—d d—d Yankee son of a b—h, if you don't get into line, I'll shoot you. He struck the man with his revolver and knocked him ten feet. The man was too weak to get up again. This was the only time he saw Wirz use his pistol. Witness was in the ball and chain gang with four others for attempting to make his escape, and kept so for twenty-five days.

The Court at one o'clock arose till two.

When the court reassembled, John H. Stearns testified that shots were frequently fired into the stockade by the sentry. He saw in August five men who had received gun-shot wounds and were sent to the hospital. He described the shocking condition of the prisoners who were placed in the hospital. Some were almost naked, and many others became delirious from disease. Amputation was frequently performed, resulting almost invariably in death. He did not remember any case of recovery where amputation had been performed. The effects of vaccination with syphilis in some cases was as marked in its character as that disease ever is.

LATE WASHINGTON ITEMS.

Southwestern Railroads Relinquished by the Government—Courts Martial in Session—The Wirz Trial—Immense Amount of Testimony Taken—Cholera Still Spreading in the East.

WASHINGTON, September 6.—Gen. McCallum left Washington last week for the Southwest to turn over to the boards of public works in the States in that section the various railroads which have been used by the Government during the war. Arrangements will be made by which the rolling stock furnished through the War Department will be sold to the respective companies on credit.

There are four courts martial, or military commissions, in session in this city. One of them meets at the Old Capitol to try the cases of sixty prisoners at that place.

So far, about forty witnesses have been examined in the Wirz case. The record makes 1,100 or 1,200 foolscap pages of testimony. At the rate testimony was taken to-day, four or five days more will suffice to close the case for the Government. The prisoner continues to take his place at the table with his counsel, and in writing and making suggestions to them as to cross-examination.

The State Department is in receipt of advices from the United States Consul stationed at Palermo, dated August 14th. He speaks of the serious spread of the cholera at Ancona, Italy, where some 899 people have died. Isolated cases have also occurred in other towns of Italy, France and Spain.

The Consul at Lawthala Fiji, informs the State Department that the Captain and crew of the American whale ship, the Plover, heretofore reported lost, were saved as well as a great part of her cargo, by another whale ship in her company.

Gen. Lee on the Duties of the Hour.

NEW YORK, September 6.—Gen. Lee has accepted the Presidency of Washington College, Va., in a letter in which he expresses the following sentiments: That it is the duty of every citizen in the present condition of the country to do all in his power to aid in the restoring of peace and harmony, and in no way oppose the policy of the State or general Government directed to that object, and it is particularly incumbent on those changed with the instruction of the South to set the example to submission to authority.

Man Shot at Knoxville.

LOUISVILLE, September 6.—The Chattanooga Gazette says: A difficulty occurred at Knoxville yesterday between W. S. Hall, clerk of the Circuit Court of Knoxville, and a young man named Baker, late of the rebel army, resulting in the death of Hall. Baker was committed to jail, but the citizens got him from the sheriff and hung him in the street.

At Chattanooga there is a good deal of excitement between the whites and blacks.

From St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, September 6.—Pierre Chouteau, Jr., for many years head of the American Fur Company, one of the first settlers and oldest citizens of this city, died to-day.

General Sanborn has made a temporary treaty of peace with the Apache, Camanche and Kiowa Indians, and ceased hostilities against them till a permanent peace can be arranged.

Murderers Hung.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, September 6.—Oliver and Hartup, the murderers of Deputy Provost Marshal Cook, of the Sixteenth District, were hung at Camp Chase, near this city, to-day. Oliver made a confession of his guilt.

Will not be a Candidate.

ALBANY, September 6.—Samuel J. Tilden has refused to allow his name to be used as a candidate for the Attorney Generalship. Judge Allen is mentioned for the position.

LATE NEWS ITEMS.

The entire appropriations made by the last session of the Thirty-Eighth Congress, have now been made out in detail by the Clerk of the House. The appropriations are as follows: Invalid and other pensions $11,230,000; purchase or construction of revenue cutters, $1,000,000; consular and diplomatic expenses, $1,390,050; Post Office department, $14,098,505; fortifications, $4,458,000; legislative, executive and judicial, $1,385,797 19; naval service, $11,758,752 80; military academy, $257,303; army, $55,457,962 77; Indian Department, $3,036,848 91; deficiencies for invalids and other pensions, $3,565,000; deficiencies for fortifications and armaments, $100,000; deficiencies, for legislative expenditures, &c., $3,351,148 73; miscellaneous, $331,917 13. Total, $822,076,523 36.

A correspondent says the privilege of writing to his wife has been granted Jeff. Davis.

A Washington correspondent says that Gen. Swayne, of the Department of Alabama, having recently issued a general order inviting the judicial officers and magistrates of that State to become agents of the Freedmen's Bureau, for the administration of justice in all difficulties arising between negroes or between whites and negroes, and having admonished such officials that a failure to accept the agency for the purpose designated would be followed by the substitution of martial law in the district where such failures occurred. Provisional Governor Parsons earnestly advises all judicial officers and magistrates to accept the appointment offered as above, in good faith and justice, and observe the instructions contained in the order of Gen. Swayne.

The Haytien dispatch steamer Geffrard is said to be on its way to Washington, the captain being a bearer of dispatches, asking, it is presumed, for aid to quell the rebellion in Hayti.

A Washington special says there is the best authority for saying that Alex. H. Stephens and J. H. Regan, now confined at Fort Warren, in writing to their friends at the South, express the most liberal views respecting reconstruction, the negro race and the future of the South. They urge that the agricultural system of the South must be revolutionized, that the negro being a large and permanent element in the population of the South must be so treated as to increase his self-respect and manhood; that his freedom must be cheerfully accorded, and the negro educated for the intelligent wielding of that political power which the progress of events promise to put him in possession of.

DEATH OF A POLICE OFFICER.—Mr. Charles Bay, an old and efficient member of the Mayor's police, died yesterday morning, at his residence in the Eighth ward, after a lingering illness. His funeral will take place this morning at nine o'clock.

NEW GROCERY ESTABLISHMENT.—James Connor's wholesale grocery establishment, at No. 335 Liberty street, which has just been opened, is a magnificent addition to the business places of the city. The appearance of the place is particularly refreshing and inviting. It is near the depot of the Pennsylvania railroad. Mr. Connor is late of the firm of Murland & Connor, and, of course, understands his business.

INFORMATION WANTED.—John Myers, formerly of Crestline, Ohio, aged nineteen years, died at Maple Farm, on Dunkard creek, Pa., on the 29th of last month. Two orphan sisters of the deceased, whom he had not seen since he was four years old, are in service in this city. As he left some money and they are in needy circumstances, city papers would perform an act of humanity by publishing the above.

CITY MORTALITY.—Dr. George L. McCook, Physician of Board of Board of Health, reports the number of interments in the city for the week ending September 3d at twenty-eight—eleven adults and seventeen children. The deaths were from the following diseases Typhoid fever, two; anemia, one; accident, one; congestion of brain, one; consumption, three; disease of uterus, one; drowned, one; diarrhoea, one; spasmodic croup, one; still-born, three; cholera infantum, two; chronic diarrhoea, one; convulsions, one; premature birth, one; diphtheria, three; hydrocephalus, one; pneumonia, one; meningitis, one; dysentery, one.

EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION CELEBRATION.—The colored people of Canonsburg and vicinity intend celebrating Friday, 22d inst., as the anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation of Abraham Lincoln, by a dinner and speaking in Union Grove, one mile from town. The orator of the day will be A. R. Henderson, and among the speakers will be Rev. Lewis Woodson, of this city. Jesse Wilson, President of the Day, will address the Sabbath School children in the morning, in the A. M. E. Church, and in the evening, at the same place, there will be an exhibition by the children, under the direction of Mrs. Jane Williams and Miss Phoebe Hilton.

CASE OF MRS. GRINDER—PRELIMINARY HEARING WAIVED.—Yesterday afternoon at two o'clock, the hour fixed for the hearing of Mrs. Martha Grinder, for the alleged poisoning of Miss Jane R. Buchanan, the Mayor's office was filled by a large crowd of people, anxious to ascertain any further developments in the case that might be made. Their curiosity, however, was not gratified, as Mrs. Grinder's counsel waived a hearing, in the case, when she was fully committed for trial. Prof. Wuth, who is analizing the stomach of Mrs. Caroline Cruthers, another of the alleged victims of Mrs. Grinder, had not concluded his investigations, yesterday, but will probably be prepared to report to-day or to-morrow, when the Coroner's jury will be re-assembled.

THE PAUL-MUNDAY MURDER.—The trial of Daniel Bowser and John Howser, who were arrested in Allegheny city about two months since, on a charge of being connected with the murder of Miss Paul and Miss Munday, was to have commenced in Ebensburg, Cambria county, on Tuesday, but owing to the absence of important witnesses for the Commonwealth, the case was continued, at the instance of District Attorney Noon, until the December term. Officers David McKelvey and Robert Hague, who arrested the prisoners, were in attendance at the court as witnesses, and arrived home yesterday morning.

Arrested on Suspicion.

Yesterday afternoon a man named Jacob Fox entered a clothing store on Ohio street, Allegheny, above the East Common, and after purchasing a quantity of goods tendered a fifty dollar Treasury note in payment. The storekeeper was unable to change the note, when Fox took from his pocket a roll of small bills, and counted out the required amount. The quantity of money which Fox exhibited awakened suspicion in the mind of the storekeeper, when he asked him where he lived, and upon receiving an evasive answer, called in a police officer, who arrested him and took him to the Mayor's office. Upon being searched three pocket books, containing in the aggregate about four hundred dollars, were found upon his person. Fox stated to the Mayor that he was a resident of Wheeling, that he formerly belonged to a Virginia regiment, but had been discharged in December last. He at first said he was stopping in Allegheny with a friend, but afterwards said he was boarding in this city. He appeared very anxious to be discharged, but the Mayor declined to do so until he would give a better account of himself. It is probable that after enjoying the Mayor's hospitalities for the night he will become more communicative.

Presbyterian Intelligence.

The Presbytery of Allegheny City will hold its next stated meeting in Rev. E. E. Swift's church, Allegheny, commencing on the third Tuesday of September. Rev. Mr. Shields will preach the opening sermon.

The Presbytery of Beaver will meet in Pulaski on the fourth Wednesday in September at ten o'clock A. M.

The Presbytery of Steubenville will meet on the first Tuesday of October, at one o'clock, P. M., at Eran's Creek Church, Bakersville.

The Presbytery of Blairsville will meet at New Alexandria on the first Tuesday of October, at two o'clock, P. M.

The Synod of Allegheny will meet in the city of Erie, in the Park Church, on the 28th inst., at seven o'clock, P. M.

The following contributions to the various Boards were made during the month of July:—Domestic Missions, $3,584 59; Education, $2,473 64; Foreign Missions, $4,252 26; Publications, $1,321 23; Church Extension, $2,209 74; Disabled Ministers, $670. The receipts of the Board of Foreign Missions for May, June and July, 1864, from all sources, were $48,343. For the same months this year the receipts are only $20,353, showing a deficiency in these months, as compared with the same months last year, of $27,990.

The Locomotive Explosion at Duncannon.

The telegraph yesterday morning announced the explosion, near Duncannon, on Tuesday morning, of the locomotive attached to the Erie express train, on the Pennsylvania railroad, instantly killing the engineer, fireman, and a man named Bechiel, who was riding on the locomotive, and severely wounding a man in the baggage car. Later intelligence says the locomotive is a complete wreck, the machinery, by the force of the explosion, being wrenched apart and scattered in every direction. The name of the engineer was Theodore Dougherty, that of the fireman David Mealan, whose head was completely torn from the nose to the back of the neck. From the facts elicited before the coroner's jury, it appears that the explosion took place as the train was leaving Duncannon. The train had been behind time, and had not reached Duncannon until five o'clock in the morning. When at Mifflin, water was taken in the tank, amply sufficient with which to run to Harrisburg. The explosion took place, as already stated, a short distance east of Duncannon. When the conductor and brakesmen reached the wreck they found the lifeless remains of the engineer buried beneath the ruins of the locomotive, while those of the fireman were thrown under one of the baggage cars, and those of Edward Bechiel had been cast into the river, from which they were promptly rescued by the passengers. From papers found on the body of Bechiel, it is supposed that he was an engineer in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

The Fall Fashions.

Gold, Silver and Brass Ornaments.

A Change for the Better in Bonnets.

In Pittsburg our milliners and dress makers have no regular day for opening up the spring and fall fashions, and they are accustomed to take their cue from the fashion movements in the Eastern cities. As yet the milliners in this city have not announced their preparations to exhibit the styles that fashion dictates shall prevail the present Fall and coming winter, and as the lady readers of the COMMERCIAL may desire to have early information on a subject they are so highly interested in, the subjoined brief sketch of the opening day in New York, on Monday, will be read with pleasure. It will be observed that the change in the style of bonnets is for the better, so far as comfort is concerned, although waterfalls and curls will have to be dispensed with. Sensible women will regard this change of fashion with satisfaction, while hair-dressers and wig-makers will not be so favorably inclined. Husbands and fathers may have some scruples relative to the innovation in the manner of ornamenting their wives' and daughters' dresses. Bead trimming was comparatively cheap, and, to say the truth, tasteful and becoming, but Dame Fashion the ensuing season inexorably demands that the metallic shall rule, and gold, silver and brass are to be the prevailing ornaments. To what extent this new demand will be acceded to, will depend upon the length of the parental purse.

Monday was the opening day in New York, and the Broadway millineries and dressmaking establishments were thronged as usual with fair ladies, examining the new modes on exhibition. Gold, silver, and even brass are the new ornaments for ladies dresses, and they promise to become all the rage. This fashion is imported from Paris, where it has been in vogue for the past season, and may be the means of bringing the precious metals more into fashion than they have been during the last three years. The prevailing style for the fall this year will be toilets in one, two and three colors. Dress petticoat and paletot will be cut from the same materials, the skirt trimmed with bias bands of the same, and drawn up with an Imperial dress elevator over the petticoat, which will be ornamented with fluting. Or the toilet may be composed of striped silk, or purple violet and black. The violet petticoat is striped around the bottom with three rows of black velvet, the dress looped over it with ladders of black cord, or bands of rich black pasmenterie, and edged with pendant jet balls. A pretty novelty for evening wear for young ladies, is a boddice with long coat tails forming a sort of tunic, very original and graceful, and worn with a light evening dress. The tails reach nearly to the bottom of the dress behind, but are much shorter at the sides, and shorter still as they near the the front, the boddice forming a sixth point.

BONNETS—This year are handsome for the first time, and exhibit a wonderful change. They are no longer the little delicate, crownless and capeless affairs of a month ago, but substantial looking head gear, with large flat crowns, which are so long and the trimmings so arranged as to look like a cape, and answers the purpose of one. The style is becoming, but waterfalls and curls will be useless. The varieties exhibited are really beautiful, and should be seen. A new style of child's hat, with Glengary crown, called the "Cora," is among the prettiest for the young girls, barrow brim round the sides, crimson and white velvet bows, with large crystal brooch and white feather in front; white velvet round the hat, full rosette of bows, with long ends of white silk ribbon on the back.

JACKETS.—The "Nina" is the name of a lady's jacket, fit for the house or the street, and fitted only at the back. It may be made of any material, to match a skirt, and trimmed to taste. There is a large assortment of elegant riding dresses and cloaks of an entirely new pattern. The riding dress is of dark rifle green cloth, with seven bell buttons on the sleeves, and a row of silver buttons between. The jacket has a postilion in the back, is lightly curved over the hips, and forms two points in front. Worn with black belt and silver buckle, attached to the former is a loop of heavy black cord for drawing the dress up when walking. Under-skirt of green cloth, scolloped and bound and braided with black. Hat—black silk, with band, buckle and veil of the same color. The "Rosalie" dress and "Vidoc" cloak are both beautiful, and should be seen to be approved.

BLAST FURNACES.

Messrs. Schoenberger, Blair & Co., corner of Etna and Factory streets, are erecting two blast furnaces on Etna street. Each of these furnaces will turn out about one hundred and fifty tons pig iron per week. They are forty-five feet high, and the tower from which the ore and fuel is to be supplied is sixty feet high. In close proximity to the furnaces is an immense shed, which is to be used as a stock house. From the stock house is a bridge which crosses Etna street, on which there is a track connecting the establishment with the Allegheny Valley Railroad. The bridge which crosses Etna street appears to have been constructed with a view to strength. The work upon it is very substantial. The location is a very advantageous one—lying between the track of the Allegheny railroad and the bank of the Allegheny river. The building of the furnaces, stock house and bridge is being carried on under the able superintendence of Mr. Jacob Beck. The furnaces will probably be ready for operation by January 1866. Twenty-four men are now employed on the building, and when the furnaces are in full blast the works will employ some sixty men regularly.

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH.

St. Patrick's Church located at the corner of Liberty and Harrison streets, was built by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in place of the old edifice which was torn down for the accommodation of the road, about a year ago. It has been occupied for some time by the congregation under the care of the Rev. E. F. Garland, rector, and the Rev. Francis Tobin, assistant. The contractors are Smith & Bungey. The stone work, which is now being completed, is by J. L. L. Knox; the painting is being done by Gilleland & Orr, and the plastering was done by Charles Messich; the stained glass in the windows was, for the most part, obtained from the windows of the former edifice. The entire building will soon be completed.

DWELLINGS IN PINE STREET.

It may be interesting to persons in quest of small dwellings to know that at Nos. 38 and 40 Pine street, near Penn, two nice little houses are now nearly completed, and will be to rent, unless they have been secured since our reporter saw them. They are neat two story brick dwellings, with celars and attics, inclusive of which they will each contain four apartments. The one is the property of Anthon Happy, and the other of Mr. Hausman. They are built on ground which was laid out for Pike street. They were commenced some six weeks ago; were built by four men, and will be finished in about a week.

SMALL DWELLING IN PENN STREET.

A neat little two story brick dwelling had been built at No. 760 Penn street, by Mr. Wright, now residing in the rear of the same number. It contains four apartments including cellar and attic. It is nearly finished.

THREE STORY DWELLINGS.

Mr. Wm. Heintz, Butcher, has built three brick dwelling houses of three stories each at Nos. 786, 788 and 790 Penn street. The ground floors are to be stores and the dwellings above will be occupied by the persons occupying the stores. These houses have fine cellars underneath. In the rear of these three houses are three two story houses, which will soon be completed and ready for tenants. This is a fine field for house hunters, no fee charged for our agency in the matter, only we beseech houseless persons to have mercy on the poor landord.

A THREE STORY BRICK HOUSE.

Mr. Samuel Hamilton has built for himself a neat and commodious dwelling at No. 834 Penn street. It is a three story brick building, and contains nine apartments and a cellar. It was commenced about the 1st of July, and is now nearly finished. The scarcity of carpenters has been felt here. The contractor was Mr. George McKee.

NEW COAL YARD.

A new coal yard has just been opened near the Allegheny Valley railroad depot, by R. A. Schnabel & Co. This firm contemplates supplying the German residents of the Fifth ward with their coal. They will be able to furnish two thousand bushels per day.

PENNOCK & TOTTEN'S NEW MACHINE SHOP.

Messrs. Pennock & Totten are building a magnificent machine shop on Wilkins street, right on the line of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, on the opposite side of the road to where there foundry is located. This shop is one hundred and twenty feet long and sixty feet wide. It is to have an iron gravel roof. A gallery will run round the interior of the building, about twenty feet from the ground, which will be occupied by light machinery. In the middle of the main shop there will be cranes and other apparatus for lifting heavy weights, and the area above being open, they will be used to lift machinery from the galleries to the ground. A track will be laid across the Allegheny Valley road, communicating with the foundry. A brick fire-proof office will be built inside the shop.

Outside of the machine shop will be a boiler house and smoke stack, built apart to avoid danger from fire. The work of erecting this structure was begun in May, and is rapidly approaching completion. Smith & Bungey are the contractors.

HATCH & M'COY'S MACHINE SHOP.

Messrs. Hatch & M'Coy have nearly completed a handsome and extensive machine shop in Morton street, near the line of the Allegheny Valley Railroad. The ground to be occupied by the entire works of this firm is four hundred feet deep, and one hundred and twenty feet wide. The machine shop now nearly finished, occupies a space of one hundred and sixty feet depth by fifty feet in width. The smith shop will be fifty feet square and the Foundry will be one hundred feet by sixty feet.

The Machine Shop will be three stories high. When these works are in operation they will furnish employment to some two hundred hands. It is intended to have a boiler yard attached which will occupy a space of one hundred and fifty feet by fifty feet. It is also the intention of the firm to connect their works with the track of the Allegheny Valley Railroad. They are also so convenient to the Pennsylvania Road that they can ship machinery thereby with ease. The building was commenced about the middle of June, and will be finished in an another week, when the firm will be ready to receive orders for all kinds of machinery. Smith & Bungey are the contractors.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD TRANSFER DEPOT.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company are building an immense shed at the Outer Depot, which is to be used as a Transfer Depot. This shed is being constructed by Smith & Bungey, contractors. It is about one thousand feet in length, and will prove to be a valuable acquisition to the road. This is another evidence, not only of the growth of business on this road, but also of the promptness with which the Superintendent of the Western Division, Mr. Pitcairn, applies himself to the business wants of the Company.

UNION SHEET LEAD AND PIPE WORKS.

A visit to the Union sheet Lead and Pipe Works, at the corner of Morgan and Canal streets, Allegheny City, revealed the fact that we have, through the enterprize of J. Griffith, Esq., machinery at hand for the manufacturing of sheet lead, and lead pipe, articles used very extensively by the manufacturing establishments and builders of our city. The apparatus for the manufacture of pipe is now working and turning out large quantities of that article every day. It appears to be very ponderous, but remarkably simple in its construction. The upper part of the machine is a hydraulic press, consisting of a strong iron dome resting on a pedestal supported by four pillars of solid hammered iron. The end of the press piston receives a smooth iron rod called a "core" the exact size of the interior of the pipe to be made. This "core" passes downward through a large iron block which contains the metal about to be converted into pipe, and downward still, as the piston is lowered, through another iron block which is called the "die," so called because it regulates the thickness of the pipe from its core to the exterior surface. The metal, which is melted in a cauldron, which stands immediately at the back of the press, reaches the receiving block by means of a conduit leading from the bottom of the cauldron, the block referred to having been previously heated to a temperature sufficient to sympathize with that of the metal in order to prevent blistering or irregularity in the pipe. When the metal thus disposed of has been in the block four minutes, the attendant of the press by opening a series of regulating valves, sets the press in motion. The press is acted upon by three eccentric pumps which have a combined pressure of two hundred and fifty tons. The indicator attached to these pumps represents the pressure, whatever it is, at different points from thirty-five tons up to the maximum standard. As soon as the piston begins to descend from the press the lead pipe begins to emerge from the "die" block and descends to the floor below, where competent workmen receive it and put it through the neat process of coiling. The pipe is payed out with an exactness of regularity which renders it impossible to make a bad pipe.

The "cores" and "dies" can be changed very easily. In the store-room we observed a large variety of these instruments or tools, any of which can be attached to the piston of the hydraulic press when needed to fill an order for a particular size of pipe. We examined some fine specimens of all sizes, extra light, medium, strong and extra strong, and saw the machine in operation while two different sizes were being made.

This machine was made in Brooklyn, N. Y., by Messrs. Robinson, Dow & Co., and was fitted up here by Mr. Allen Robinson, who had charge of its operations on the occasion of our visit. Mr. Robinson is desirous to see that it does the work claimed for it before he returns to Brooklyn, and it bids fair, so far, to do his firm credit. It is capable of turning out at the rate of four and a half tons of ordinary sized pipe per day of ten hours. The pipe likely to be most in demand will be all sizes from four inches down to a quarter of an inch. Hereafter the operations of this machine will be conducted under the superintendence of Mr. Lawrence G. Boggs of this city.

Mr. Griffith, who has introduced this branch of manufacture here, is a practical man, and appears to comprehend thoroughly that he is furnishing an article which the plumbers of Pittsburgh and this whole region will pronounce as good as can be brought here from any other source. He has purchased the whole lot on which the present shop stands, being one hundred feet square. He intends to build a foundry and machine shop with the view of extending his business to the manufacture of pumps for oil refineries, cisterns, wells, &c. Such spirited and practical enterprise must succeed.

Oil Refinery Burned.

Last evening about nine o'clock one of the retorts connected with the Ardesco Oil Refinery, located at Woods' Run, in McClure township, exploded, and in a few minutes the entire building was in flames. About twelve hundred barrels of oil, in tanks, took fire and was consumed. The flames communicated to several adjoining houses, but through the exertions of the members of the Hope of Allegheny, the only steamer on the ground, they were saved. The Ardesco was one of the largest refineries in this vicinity, and the loss will doubtless be very heavy. The explosion is understood to have been caused by one of the workmen taking a lighted lamp into the refinery.

Public Amusements.

THEATRE.—A crowded audience was in attendance last evening to witness Mr. Hackett's great impersonation of "Falstaff," in the "Merry Wives of Windsor." The play was well put upon the stage, and very creditably performed throughout. It will be repeated again this evening.

OPERA HOUSE.—Miss Thompson had another crowded audience last evening, and in the character of "Camille" won new honors. She was well supported by the company. To-night she will perform the character of "Pauline," in the "Lady of Lyons," in which she will be ably supported by Mr. Chaplin as "Claude Melnotte."

DIED:

PORTERFIELD—On Wednesday, September 6th, MATTHEW PORTERFIELD, aged 77 years.

Funeral from his late residence, No. 51 Diamond, Allegheny, on Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Friends of the family are invited to attend.

PITTSBURGH—ITS POPULATION—CONSOLIDATION.

Interesting discussions have appeared in the New York papers, touching the census of that great city, and quite a sensation has been produced by the discovery that Philadelphia has been quietly gaining upon it in the number of inhabitants. New Yorkers have lost confidence in the famous statistical maxim, that figures do not lie. If there is any city, whose public spirit has occasion to be dissatisfied with its small show of increase, that city is Pittsburgh. It is true, we have not a very large amount of public spirit, nor a very recent census—would that we had both—but a comparison of the census of 1850 with that of 1860 exhibits our city, unless an explanation is given, to very poor advantage.

While Rochester, New York grew from 36,000 to 48,000, with much smaller advantages; and Buffalo, from 42,000 to 81,000; and St. Louis from 77,000 to 160,000, Pittsburgh has crept up slowly from 47,000 to 50,000. A stranger, judging by the figures in the census, would be puzzled by this fact. Pittsburgh would seem to be a place low in the scale of prolificness, or high in that of mortality, or possessing little to attract strangers or much to drive them away. But neither of these hypotheses is correct. In every particular, the reverse is true. The census, though correct, misleads the reader. The place increases in population rapidly and largely, but our corporation arrangements are such as to conceal the fact. The city limits, defined by certain streams and streets, do not contain one-half of the population of the immediate locality.

To estimate the population of Pittsburgh correctly and rationally, not only that of the wards should be included, but also that of the adjoining city of Allegheny, containing 29,000 inhabitants, and that of ten or twelve suburban boroughs, with populations varying from two thousand to six thousand. These are all connected with the city by bridges, ferries and street railroads, and are all within the sweep of a radius of three or four miles. They are in reality component parts of the same great city, although not so reckoned in the census, because each has its separate municipal organization.

The population, therefore, instead of fifty thousand, should be reckoned at three times that number, and the increase in the last decade of the census, instead of three thousand, should be little less than thirty thousand. The population of the county increased, during that decade, over forty thousand, a large proportion of which was within the area above described, and connected immediately with the business of the city. Allegheny City increased more than twice as much as Pittsburgh, and all of the boroughs in a ratio of from five to fifteen per cent. greater than that of the city proper. The city is full and cannot increase, but arbitrary lines cannot confine population or business.

Philadelphia followed the same old fogy policy till 1852, hiding her numerous offspring, and her greatness, and appearing in the census with the small number of 121,000 people. Upon the change of policy, she immediately took rank in the world as a great city of 408,000 people, and now contains little less than 700,000. We have twice as many thriving, populous boroughs around us, which, added to the city, would make our population not less than 150,000, and all connected with the center as one city. We should like to see the accuracy of this estimate tested by a local census of the cities and all the suburban towns, which mingle, daily, their people, their business, and their industrial smoke together. The next thing, we hope, would be a general wish to consolidate the whole in one municipality, which, we believe, would be productive of the best effects on the fame, the order, the improvement and the economy of the whole. A hundred arguments present themselves in favor of the union of the whole population. It is due to the greatness of the place that such a union should be effected. The expense of maintaining government would be vastly diminished. The whole region would enjoy better order and more freedom from rowdyism and violence. We should stand before the country not as a number of villages, but as a large city, and the greatest center of manufactories in the United States. All we want, to make the exhibition correspond with the substantial reality, is prompt, earnest, public spirited action. The census of the area named would require but a few days, and would cost but a few dollars. Its importance, we trust, will secure its speedy accomplishment.

Since the above was written the following communication, from one of our most active manufacturers, has been received:

To the Editor of the Commercial:

Our city does not hold that place in the estimation of the country, to which its importance justly entitles it. Pittsburgh, as shown by the census reports, and Pittsburgh as it really exists, appears to me to be two different places. The real Pittsburgh comprises the city proper, Allegheny, Manchester, Duquesne, Lawrenceville, East Liberty, Pitt township, East Birmingham, Birmingham, Monongahela, West Pittsburgh, South Pittsburgh and Temperanceville, in all some twenty-eight election districts, each one of which should be a Ward of one great city. Then, and only then, will we assume our proper place among the cities of the United States. The only real objection to the consolidation of these thirteen municipalities arises from their different amounts of indebtedness—this could be readily arranged as it was when the corporate limits of Philadelphia were extended, so as to include the whole county, and I hope the gentlemen who will represent us in the next Legislature will take this question into their serious consideration, and perfect a bill for the consideration of the General Assembly.

What the views of our people generally are upon this question, I have no idea; it is some years since it was agitated, and then I believe only so far as to have a bill read in the House, printed, and mailed to the several City and Borough Councils for their consideration. The presumption is that councilmen having performed the duty for which they were chosen—that is, the distribution of the city and borough offices and contracts—either did not read the bill, or, having read it, regarded it as of no moment—and the author, finding his measure not "backed up" from home, suffered it to sleep undisturbed upon the legislative files. Notwithstanding all this, however, it might be well to agitage the matter anew, and I throw these ideas before your readers—comprising the whole business community of Pittsburgh in its largest sense—in hopes that intelligent men may take hold of the subject and discuss it. If objections arise to the proposed plan, let us hear them—and let public opinion be formed between the present time and the assembling of the Legislature.

There are many other advantages which would arise from consolidation, which I may press hereafter, if some abler pen does not become enlisted in the cause.

PENN.

PITTSBURGH BOARD OF TRADE—A HINT.

At a time when the interest among the members of the Chicago Board of Trade flagged, and the attendance was small, a practical member proposed that a daily noon lunch of crackers and cheese—the very best quality—should be provided, which should be paid for out of the Treasury. The lunch was provided. The fact was published. From that day the Chicago Board of Trade grew. In view of the flagging interest, and the sometimes small attendance on the meetings of our Board of Trade, this fact is thought to contain a hint more valuable than a sermon.

GIVING THEM TIME.—In one of his speeches in favor of the Union, our English friend, JOHN BRIGHT, remarked, that a Mississippi gentleman, well acquainted with the cotton raising business, expressed to him the opinion that ten years hence, there will be more cotton raised by free labor, and sold at a cheaper rate, than at any period of its production by slave labor. That is a sensible view of the subject. We are impatient because the benefits of the transition to freedom do not appear in full fruitage at once. Give time. Have patience. Hardly five months have passed since the rebellion was suppressed. A great deal has been done towards restoring order and getting the colored people to work as free men. Less than ten years will see the markets filled with cotton, the product of free labor.

THE REVIVAL OF BUSINESS.

Sympathising with the great seats of trade and commerce, Pittsburgh within the last month has experienced a wholesome revival of business. Our Glass Factories are doing a good business, the South, as we understand, taking the largest part of the product. The demand for our Iron and Nails, for our Steel and other metals, has increased to considerable briskness, and prices for most of articles, as for staples in other cities, have considerably advanced under the impulse. The entire business community has had imparted to it corresponding animation, which appears to be entirely healthy and permanent.

We see no reason why there should not be experienced here, what is the fact in other great manufacturing districts. In New England the mills and factories of every description, more especially the cotton factories, are, as they have for some time been, running to their full capacity, without being able to supply the demand, which is mainly for the Southern market. We see no reason why Pittsburgh manufactories should not experience a similar state of things, and we believe we are on the threshold of such a state of prosperity. We will venture the suggestion that the time is favorable for our manufacturers to put forth a long arm, to clutch a vast trade which has not yet fallen into ruts and channels, from which, when once therein, it is difficult to divert it. We venture to suggest, further, that Pittsburgh must be ready to take a hand at the new formation, the "reconstruction" of trade, with others cities, which are awake to the importance of doing everything for their welfare and prosperity. There are certain descriptions of trade which will naturally tend hither; but there are others which must be competed for.

There is scarcely anything made of metal and wood that cannot be manufactured in Pittsburgh, and sold as cheap here as elsewhere. We think we may safely say, that with all our manufacturing prosperity and celebrity, we are yet behind-hand in many things wherein we might just as well excel. We wish we could know that there was growing up within the minds of our citizens the firm resolve that Pittsburgh shall be the great manufacturing centre in many as she really is in some things.

The revival of business to which we have alluded—the return of the good old times, which we are sure are not far off, is a favorable era not only for making this resolve, but for carrying it into effect. Our wonderful advantages are not improved to the extent of a hundredth part. We but float on the surface—drift whithersoever the current carries us, when we should launch boldly out, put on steam, and come up abreast of the times and the spirit of the age. The times are reviving—let us make Pittsburgh revive with them. We have the capital, everything, but seemingly the necessary enterprise. We say seemingly, for we do not quite believe it is so actually. We prefer to believe, rather, that we are but a sleeping HERCULES, about to awake, with an infusion of energy and public spirit which will give to our city a new life and her rightful place among the great ones of the country.

BE ASSESSED.—The election will take place in this State on the 10th of October. No man can vote without being assessed. The roll is closed ten days before the day of election. Therefore, those who expect to vote must be assessed before this month expires. It is none too early to think about the matter. It is the importance of seeing that the returned soldiers are properly attended to. By the law of the State, a soldier who was detained by duty away from his home, was extended the privilege of voting wherever he might be. As, however, a great proportion of our volunteers have ceased to be employed in the military service, it is necessary that they should go through all the preliminary steps with which all civic voters are compelled to comply.

BAD, WORSE, WORST.—It is bad, when a man's true interests are opposed by his passions; it is worse when they encounter his convictions arrayed in hostile attitude against them; it is worst when his passions and convictions both lie as stumbling blocks in the path of his true interest and duty. All these cases are found among the subdued rebels. It is their true interest as well as duty to cheerfully submit to the authority of the United States Government; but inflamed passions or erroneous convictions, or both, keep many from seeing it in that light; and hence proceed their tardiness and their ostentatious meekness and their half uttered hostility, during the work of reconstruction.

UNDER THE CONSTITUTION.—Some of the so-called Democracy are painfully concerned about the Constitution. Under the Constitution, a man's house is his castle. They are indignant at the firemen, who deluge the man's house with water, while they speak in honeyed phrases to the incendiary that set it on fire.

Hon. Andrew Stewart on Protection.

The following letter addressed by the Hon. Andrew Stewart, of this State, to the "Society for Protection" in Cleveland, was mislaid at the time it first appeared, otherwise it would have been given sooner in our columns:

DEAR SIR: I cannot forbear to express my entire concurrence with you as to the great importance of an "increased protection tariff" now rendered indispensable by the great reduction in gold and the heavy duties imposed on all the products of domestic industry.

The war over, with adequate protection we will enter upon a course of National prosperity never before witnessed in this or any other country.

The labor of a million of men, by peace converted into producers instead of consumers; the foreign labor and capital attracted to our shore by a high tariff and its inseparable concomitant, high wages; the immense development this capital labor will give to our vast treasures, agricultural, manufacturing and mineral; and above all, the addition of two hundred millions to our exports in the single item of cotton, which amounted before the war to five times as much as all our agricultural exports put together—with such advantages wisely protected, our heavy war debt would scarcely be felt.

But with free trade or a low tariff opening our ports to the free introduction of the pauper labor productions of Europe, paralyzing the arm of American labor, crushing home competition, taking first our money and next our bonds, national bankruptcy and ruin are inevitable.

That such have been the effect of low tariffs is proved by the history of our country from its origin up to the present time. The contest is between Foreign and American labor for the American market. A high tariff gives it to the American, and a low one to the foreigner, and Congress must decide which shall have it. It is therefore the duty of every working man to see that no one is elected to Congress who is not in favor of protecting the national industry in all its departments, agricultural, manufacturing and mechanical.

Hence, I am glad to see that you have commenced the good work of organizing "societies for the protection of American industry" in Ohio, and I hope soon to see your excellent example followed in all the great agricultural regions of the South and West.

For it can be demonstrated that the farmers of this country are more interested in the protective policy than any other class—next the mechanics and workingmen, and last the capitalist and manufacturer.

As to the first, it can be proved by reference to official reports, that our farmers now purchase and consume four dollars worth of agricultural produce worked up into goods, to every dollar's worth they send abroad. Let a farmer go into a store and examine every article of foreign goods and he will find that more than half their whole value is made up of agricultural produce—the raw material and the subsistence of labor. Take a piece of cloth—is not one-half of its value foreign wool, and most of the other half foreign agricultural produce consumed by the labor employed in its manufacture? —or a bar of iron, which is still more strictly an agricultural product, consisting of the bread, meat and vegetables consumed by the men, and the hay, grass and grain consumed by the horses and mules employed in producing it, thus converting this foreign agricultural produce into iron, sent here and sold to our farmers, who are thus deprived of a market for their own. Or, suppose he purchases a knife, a needle, or a yard of lace, what does he pay for? The subsistence of the labor that produced it. And so of everything else. How much better for the American farmer to exchange his own agricultural produce with the manufacturer at his door, than to send his money abroad to purchase agricultural produce disguised and made portable in the form of cloth, iron and other foreign goods.

Next, as to our mechanics and laboring men. It is not perfectly clear that their prices and wages must go up and down with the duties imposed for their protection? Suppose the duties on foreign shoes to be a dollar a pair—if this protective duty is reduced or repealed, will not the foreign manufacturer at once make an equivalent reduction on his goods, and must not the American shoemaker make a corresponding reduction on his, or give up the market to his foreign rival? Hence, is it not manifest that a high tariff raises, and a low tariff reduces, the wages of American labor in every department of industry, agricultural, manufacturing and mechanical?

And, finally, let us see how it effects the capitalist or manufacturer. The immediate effect of a high or prohibitory duty may, in the first instance, be to increase the prices and profits of the manufacturer; but will not this very increase tempt capital on all sides to rush into this profitable business, thus creating an increased demand for labor, thereby enhancing its wages? And, increasing, also, the demand for agricultural produce of every kind—raw material, breadstuffs and provisions; and, of course, increasing their price by this increased demand, and, at the same time, reducing the price of the manufactured goods, by the greatly increased supply thus thrown upon the market? It is not, therefore, evident, that the farmers, mechanics and workingmen are much more interested in the protective policy than the manufacturer? Yet the freetraders would have the people believe that the capitalist and manufacturer are alone benefitted, and that the farmers, mechanics and laboring men are terribly taxed and oppressed by the protective policy. Such are the gross absurdities into which the anti-tariff party are driven in their efforts to favor foreign, and destroy American, industry.

It is, however, impossible in a short and hasty letter to advert, however briefly, to the many interesting topics embraced in the great question of national protection.

With the best wishes for the success of your patriotic association, and many thanks for your kind invitation,

I am, very respectfully, yours, etc.,
A. STEWART.

PERSONAL.

—The following case brings to the mind Mrs. Grinder, now in our jail for wholesale poisoning: Recently a woman named Perkins, wife of a respectable farmer, near Brantford, U. C., finding herself upon her death bed, sent for a clergyman and confessed that she had at different periods of her life committed six murders, and all by poison. She said that she had a mania for destroying life, and it was only by the greatest self-restraint that she could keep herself from secretly poisoning all persons with whom she was on terms of friendship. She had, however, poisoned four children and two adults. Two of the former were her own children, and one of the latter her first husband. The children were murdered in England and the adults in Canada. She had been married to her second husband for a number of years, and all the time passed for a very respectable and industrious woman. She died soon after making the disclosure.

—Garabaldi has sent to the editor of a Genoese journal the request that he would announce that he "was not fond of visits"—a delicate way of saying that he wished bores would keep away. The Genoese editor is understood to have adopted the expression and posted it up on his own door. It is likely to become common.

—Some enterprising persons in Pittsburgh, we are glad to hear, have gone so far as to talk about something to rent. In the hope of asserting the fact as well as talk, we publish the following brief announcement: "At the northern end of the Tenth street Railroad," says the North American, "some six squares of dwellings are in process of construction, and in all parts of the city new houses are to be seen going up." We are assured that the cost of building is not greater in Pittsburgh than Philadelphia, while, according to the population of the two cities, we are sure the demand in Pittsburgh is greatest. In Philadelphia public spirit takes this as one way to manifest itself. Shall we not have something of the kind in Pittsburgh?

—In a recent speech at San Francisco, Speaker Colfax grew belligerent. He said:—There are some accounts yet unsettled between our own and foreign governments; but they will be settled without hostilities. There is the Alabama's account with Great Britain. When the Alabama went down in the British Channel, in sight of the vine clad hills of France and white cliffs of Albion, she left a small bill which we shall ask England to pay, and which she will pay. This is a question we can properly submit to the arbitration of a neutral power, as it is a question of dollars and cents, and does not affect our national honor in any way. The Alabama was an English vessel—built in England, manned by an English crew, armed with English guns, supplied over and over again with arms, ammunition, men, and provisions in English colonial ports; and if this does not give us a fair claim for the damage she did, then there never was a fair claim for damages. And I think she will settle it after a little more correspondence on the subject, and take Andy Johnson's receipt in full.

—The romantic attachment between Lord Hood and the Princess Mary, cousin of Queen Victoria, was the subject of considerable gossip some months ago. The dream of the alliance between royalty and an inferior order of nobility has now vanished, the fashionable papers having announced that his Lordship is to be married to Miss Edith Ward, a daughter of a gentleman of fortune, residing in upper Grosvenor street. It is understood that in addition to wedding a rich wife, his Lordship will have a handsome office from the Queen for relieving her of trouble in the family.

—General Grant, it appears, did really utter the sentiments concerning Mexico attributed to him when in Canada; it seems he is really for enforcing the Monroe doctrine. So far so good. He probably spoke for himself, while his countrymen generally gave an affirmative response. On the contrary, the Philadelhhia Press publishes as conspicuously an article on the plea of one whom, the editor pronounces "one of the honest and most experienced officers of the American navy, in favor of giving the Monroe doctrine the go-by. He says:—Now, considering what we have had to go through with recently to maintain the Government of which that same eagle is the emblem, over our own undoubted possessions, and, considering further, that we shall have full occupation for years to come in the management of our own affairs, financial, political, and social, it certainly does not seem to be a propitious moment for casting down the gage of defiance to half a score of nations, and daring them to touch a finger of it, even supposing ourselves to be altogether in the right. * * * We must either, it would seem, maintain the Monroe doctrine or give it up. If the latter, like sensible people, we can then put our own house in order, make ourselves strong at home, within our own borders, and let the world wag on as it may outside. If we are to be Quixotic and run a tilt against the rest of mankind, because our neighbors' affairs are not managed to our liking, we shall never again know the repose of peace, and instead of disbanding the army and navy should put both services on a war footing forthwith.

—The "National Association of Wool Manufacturers" will hold their first annual meeting in Philadelphia, on the 5th of October next. Among the committee of arrangements is the Hon John Covode. The board of officers represents Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania; the board of directors those States and Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Ohio, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland. Pennsylvania has the chairmanship of the standing committee on machinery, in the person of Richard Garsed, Esq., of Frankford. The list of membership already includes one hundred and sixty-three individuals and firms, of whom eleven belong to Pennsylvania, representing large interests and great intelligence.

—The Theatre du Chatelet is about to bring out a drama by M. Alex. Dumas. Like every thing which he writes, it has a history. Fifteen years since, while he was a refugee at Brussels, he wrote a five act drama; and, being summoned unexpectedly from Brussels, he left the drama in the house of the friend with whom he was staying. It lay in the drawer some fourteen years, when his friend discovered it. He copied it and carried it to Dumas to read. Dumas thought it magnificent and carried it at once to the manager of the Theatre du Chatelet, saying: "My dear fellow, here is a master piece; it reveals a great artist, who, I promise you, will be a distinguished man. Bring this out at once. I guarantee its success." His friend then told him the little trick he had played. Dumas replied: "Really that play is by me? I am delighted to hear it. I had forgotten all about it; but I do not take back one word I had said."

—Those who take an interest in great scamps—and we believe it is quite extensive—will perhaps be glad to know how "Young Ketchum" looks. He is between twenty-five and twenty-seven years of age; five feet five or six inches high. His pale face is not particularly prepossessing nor intelligent, and at the first glance he would be taken for an ignorant country gawky, who had been "looking at the elephant," instead of showing that interesting animal to others. His hair is cut short and very black, showing a very low, projecting forehead, his eyebrows are of a bushy black, overhanging a pair of dark piercing eyes, constantly directed toward the ground, except when he was addressed by a friend. Then he raised his eyes, which lighted up a moment as he smiled and gave a nod of recognition. His nose appears as if it was made half an inch too short. The face cannot be called long, nor round, yet it inclines somewhat to the latter, and is rather short than otherwise. His mouth is small and chin inclined to double. When arraigned, for examination, he wore a handsome suit of fine blue cloth, consisting of sack, vest and pants, and from his general appearance he seemed to be as unconcerned as any one around him, but a nervous twitching of the mouth occasionally showed that he probably realized the position in which he is placed, and that the coolness and courage exhibited are all put on for the occasion. He has no whiskers, moustache or beard.

—There was a large meeting of the Fenian Brotherhood, in Troy, New York. John Morrissey appeared on the stage, made a speech, the climax of which was one thousand dollars given to the cause.

—John Wilkes Booth's Confession is the title of a book that has just been published in Paris. It is alleged to contain the murderer's confession, but is no doubt a fiction. Booth's diary, which he is stated to have kept between the fatal night of the 14th of April, and the day of his death, has never been printed.

—The clerks in the departments at Washington have interfered in the United States senatorial contest in Ohio, against Senator Sherman, because he opposed an appropriation for their benefit. Herein the clerks appears to have overshot the mark, for the fact having got out, Senator Sherman's popularity as a man of economy, is on the rise. Nevertheless, the contest is doubtful, the friends of General Schenck being sanguine. Others still significantly assert that neither of these gentlemen will be chosen, but a third man, who wisely keeps dark, will be the lucky man. The question is—who is he?

THERE was deposited at the United States Mint for coinage at Philadelphia, during the month of August, $797,353 32 in value of gold, and $40,354 32 in value of silver—in all of deposits, $837,707 64. The gold coinage during the month was $617,950 50, mostly in double eagles; $18,590 20 of silver, almost entirely in half dollars, and $51,500 of one, two and three cent pieces. The total value of the coinage of the month is $688,040 88, and the whole number of pieces coined is three millions, ninety-nine thousand and twenty-eight. The copper coinage, though still above three millions for the month, is little more than half the monthly production for the last two or three years, when the small coins were much less in use than now. Where have they all gone to? and what a nuisance they must prove should they come free on the market.

THE Artists' Sketch Club of Philadelphia has offered a prize of $2,000 for the finest work of art illustrative of the great American rebellion. Contributions for this prize must be sent in by the 1st of December, 1866, framed and ready for exhibition, and must be the work of residents of the country. Besides this, the club offers $200 for the finest painting in oil, and $100 for the next best; $100 for the best specimen of sculpture, and $50 for the second; $75 for the finest painting in water colors, and $50 for the second; $75 for the best drawing in crayon, lead pencil, pen and ink, sepia or India ink, and $50 for the second best; $75 for the best specimen of illumination or fancy designing of any kind, and $50 for the second best.

MINNESOTA is building railroads rapidly. One road from St. Paul to Superior is surveyed, and it is said that the means are provided to build it within a short time. This will be a great enterprise for the State, for a hundred and thirty miles of rail will place them almost as near New York by water as Chicago is. Another road, intended to run to the Red River country, in British territory, is now in operation fifty miles, and will soon be finished to St. Cloud. Still another, partly built, will run from Minneapolis and St. Paul, southwest to Rochester, to meet the Wenona and Mankato railroad.

A PLAN of preventing boiler incrustations, recently adopted in France, consists in lining the boiler with a metallic network at some distance from the sides. The theory is, that the lime salts will be deposited upon this network, which can be easily removed, and from which the crust can be readily detached.

ORPHANS' COURT SALE.—BY virtue of an order of the Orphans' Court of Allegheny County, the undersigned, Administrators of the estate of WM. M. BEETEM, deceased, will expose to public sale, at the Court House in Pittsburgh, on THURSDAY, the 28th day of September, A. D. 1865 at 10 o'clock, A. M., the undivided five-eighth, part of the following described real estate and other property belonging to the estate of said deceased, viz: Those certain tracts or pieces of land situate in Wilkins Township, Allegheny County, bounded by the Pennsylvania Railroad, by lands of Henry Chalfant, Moore, the Pittsburgh and Greensburg Turnpike Road, lands of James Kelly, Sampson, McKelvy and others. Said tracts contain about 245 acres of fine surface land—200 acres of which are covered with good timber. There are also about 250 acres of coal lying under the above and adjoining tracts of land, with a vein of about 4 feet 8 inches in thickness. On the above premises, to be sold as part of the coal property, are seven miner's houses, two stables, blacksmith shop and tools, one mile of railroad track, including siding, with heavy rail for locomotive, pit track, duck house, inclined plane, screws, tipple, scales, 53 four-wheeled dump cars, 54 pit cars, and sufficient material for building thirteen more, 9 mules, 9 horses, 18 setts of harness, 11 carts and wagons, 1 pair of timber wheels, fixtures for coal yard and office, and lease of office, &c., &c. The administrators are authorized to sell the entire interest of the decedent in the foregoing property, either as a whole, or in parts to suit the convenience of the purchasers. The coal is equal to any in this region for manufacturing or family use. The surface land is well adapted for gardening or farming purposes, and the part that fronts on the Pittsburgh and Greensburg Turnpike Road is desirable for country residences.

A plan of a proposed sub-division of the surface lands can be seen at the office of I. G. Macfarlane & Co., at No. 1 Canal street, Pittsburgh, opposite the Grain Elevator.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-fourth on the confirmation of the sale; one-fourth on the delivery of the deeds and possession, and the residue in two equal annual payments, with interest; the deferred payments to be secured by mortgage on the premises sold.

For further particulars apply to GEORGE SHIRAS, Jr., at No. 160 Fourth street, Pittsburgh, or to the undersigned at Carlisle, Cumberland county, Pa.

JOSEPH W. PATTON,
JOSEPH A. STUART,
Administrators of Wm. M. Beetem, deceased.

The undersigned, owner of the remaining undivided three-eighth part of the above described property, will also offer his interest for sale at the same time and place.

COAL LANDS FOR SALE.

The subscriber, at Florence, Washington county, Pa., will sell the FARM near Burgettstown, containing about 160 acres, say 100 acres cleared, with a small TENANT HOUSE and FRAME STABLE; is in a good state of cultivation. The balance is uncleared and heavily timbered. About three-fourths of the Farm is underlaid with an excellent strata of COAL, of from 5 to 6 feet in thickness, which has been opened in several places and used on the Farm. It has on it any amount of Limestone, and is well watered with never-failing Springs. It lies near the Pittsburgh and Steubenville Railroad, say within 30 or 40 rods of it, rather above the bed of the road, say about 27 miles from Pittsburgh, and about 13 from Steubenville. For particulars we would refer to WM. McCREERY, Esq., Pittsburgh, to the tenant on the farm, or the subscriber at Florence.

BEAUTIFUL SUBURBAN LOTS

FOR SALE.—A portion of the estates of JOHN HERRON, Esq., deceased, adjoining Fort Herron, has been laid out in lots of various sizes, from one-fourth to one and a half acres each, with wide streets (40 feet) and is now ready for sale. This property is in one of the most eligible locations around the city. The air being pure, free from the smoke and soot arising from the vast consumption of coal in the city, renders the location naturally healthy, and having extended views of the river and surrounding country, makes the property more desirable. Being but 2 miles from the Court House, (via Wylie street) having a good road, it can be reached in a pleasant walk of twenty-five or thirty minutes, or a drive of fifteen minutes. There is also on the property a Passenger Car Station, making it convenient and pleasant to transact business in the city. Cars passing to and from the city throughout the day. Lots will be sold singly or in numbers. The plan of lots and prices can be seen at the office of

W. C. AUGHINBAUGH,
ju5-tf Attorney, NO. 87 Diamond st., Pittsburgh.

GREAT SALE OF BUILDING LOTS,

At Braddock's Fields, on the Connellsville and Pennsylvania Railroads. Will be offered at public sale, on the premises, on SATURDAY, Sept. 16, at 1½ o'clock P. M., 29 large and desirable building lots, in Buchanan's Plan, each lot fronting 50 feet on streets 50 and 60 feet in width, extending back 133 feet to an alley. Also 2 large lots of over 2 and 4 acres, having each a wide front on the Monongahela River, and well suited for manufacturing purposes. Suitable arrangements have been made with the Connellsville R. R. Company to convey all persons (gentlemen or ladies) to the sale, free of charge. A special train will leave the depot, corner of Water and Ross streets, at 1 o'clock on the day of sale. No tickets required. For plan of lots and other particulars, see large bills, or apply to B. McLAIN & CO., 102 Fourth street. se6-10t

SALE OF FORFEITED STOCK.—

There will be sold, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock A. M., on MONDAY, the 16th day of October, 1865, at public auction, at the office of the Treasurer, in the city of Pittsburgh, Pa., unless sooner redeemed by payment of assessment of one dollar per share, due January 4, 1865, with interest and charges thereon: 3,984 shares in the Medora Mining Company, said stock having been forfeited for non-payment of the assessment above referred to, according to the terms of the charter and by-laws of the company. Eastern stockholders may redeem their stock, as above provided, by payment to F. K. Womrath, Esq., transfer agent, 324 Walnut street, Philadelphia, at any time prior to the close of business on FRIDAY, the 13th of October next, or to the Treasurer before the sale. By order of the Directors. JAMES M. COOPER, Secretary and Treasurer Medora Mining Company.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.

Letter from Kissingen, Bavaria—Politics in Germany—The Schleswig-Holstein Difficulty—The Mineral Springs of Kissengen.

Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Commercial

BATH KISSINGEN, BAVARIA, August 14, 1865.

Political matters in Germany still turn upon the question, "who shall own Schleswig-Holstein, Prussia or some pretender, upon the right of inheritance?" Prussia has got hold of the duchies by possession, and will keep them in spite of every other power, Austria and the German Bund not excepted. If Austria was not bankrupt, or if her credit was still good enough to contract a sufficient loan for the expenses of a war, Prussia might give in, let some pretender, whose claim might be the best or strongest, have tha Duchies, and merely hold the protectorate over him; but as Austria is utterly poor, utterly exhausted in her resources, and cannot make any loan at all, except on the most ruinous conditions, Prussia will only consult her own interest, and care nothing for the combined opposition of Austria and the German Bund (Confederation of the German States), no matter how much noise it will make. The army of Prussia and her credit are excellent, and so she thinks she can meet any emergency.

There is some excitement just now all over Germany for fear a war would be inevitable between Austria and Prussia on account of their relative positions in the Schleswig-Holstein difficulty, but I do not believe that Austria will risk a war just now for the Duchies. They are too far distant from the Austrian borders to do her much good, if she had them as her own, or if she shared their protectorate and partial possession with Prussia, while Prussia joins Schleswig-Holstein, and would gain important seaports by her acquisition. It is true, Prussia is not popular at all with the other German States; her Government is even very unpopular at home, for reasons already stated in my former correspondence, and otherwise well known in America; but Austria is, if possible, still more unpopular in Germany, and her Government still more distrusted by her own people.

Even Bavaria, related to Austria by marriage, religion and many historical events, does not seem to declare openly in favor of Austria, though she appears to hate Prussia from the bottom of her heart. Whether she fears Prussia would swallow her in case of Austria's defeat, or whether she has no confidence in the Imperial family of Austria, is yet a mooted question with me. Perhaps both reasons combined operate upon Bavaria; for the eager appetite of Prussia for swallowing is as well known as the ability of the Imperial stock of Austria to govern is generally doubted. Hence the smaller States of the German Confederacy not agreeing amongst themselves, hardly know what else to do than to give evidence of their existence by some fuss raised in their papers, whenever they think that either Prussia or Austria is stepping beyond proper limits. Their threats are never heeded, though.

Prussia is at present undoubtedly the strongest power of Germany, and perhaps destined to unite all the German States with her, if they are to be united at all in any other way than by a revolution terminating in a Republic; for unpopular as the heads of the Prussian Government are, the Prussian House of Commons has on the other hand taken a firm and noble stand, and will not likely yield an inch of its constitutional rights to the arrogance of the Government and the nobility, as long as it is supported by such exemplary law Judges as now occupy the bench in that State. United they will form a strong barrier against the aggressions of the nobility and its attempts to break down the Constitution. Consequently, the Prussian people, represented by such men of their own election, cannot be unpopular with the rest of Germany, no matter how little the present Prussian Government is trusted. The latter will, it is believed, have to change eventually its tone and tactics, and to accommodate itself more to the demands of the age.

The time will likely soon come, when the majority of the people of the different German States will care less for the particular royal stock that is to represent the head of their common Government, than the Constitution which is to guarantee their rights; and that gained, much is gained. If, for instance, Prussia swallows the rest of Germany, she herself ceases to be Prussia in the former sense; she will be just as much absorbed in Germany as the rest of Germany in her. Upon this point the more intelligent class of the German people, and amongst them many civil officers of high standing, do agree; only the illiterate part of the population have a prejudicial preference for their own princely families.

Thus the National Association of Oldenburg, in a meeting of August 7th last, declared itself unanimously and decidedly in favor of a union with Prussia, on the ground, that they could make their little State available only by uniting with the strongest one. The people of Schleswig-Holstein, as yet hostile to the idea of an annexation to Prussia, may follow the track of Oldenburg before long. The more this principle will gain ground, the sooner it will all Germany be united—the sooner it will approach the republic.

KISSINGEN, ITS MINERAL SPRINGS, &C.

Turning from politics, I cannot refrain from giving your readers a description of this place, its mineral springs, arrangements for bathing, regulations, customs, &c., during the season. The town of Kissingen, numbering about —— hundred regular inhabitants, dates her origin as far back as the year ——. It is situated on the left bank of the little river Saal, surrounded by beautiful hills and valleys, and was formerly a fort.

Its growth was slow, until within the last twenty years, when the Government of Bavaria commenced to take pains and to spend money for improvements of the place, by planting parks, laying out shaded lawns, building bathing houses with the very best improvements of the age, paying due regard, to good taste, convenience and usefulness in general. The waters of the four different mineral springs (Rakoczy, Pandur, Max and Saal) were analyzed, their constituent parts or ingredients ascertained, and hence their application for this or that disease, in such and such quantities, with such and such admixtures, changes, &c., scientifically suggested and by following experiments settled. Thus the bathing place soon became a place of renown and attraction, as well by its judicious arrangements as by its many cures. The number of guests increased annually and required more houses for boarding, bathing, entertainments, &c. The town henceforth grew fast, business flourished, old houses made room for new ones of splendid style, and the number of guests this season, it is presumed, will amount to over ten thousand. They will spend millions of guilders in a few months, and then leave the town, a dead place for the balance of the year; for Kissingen has no manufacturing facilities, and consequently no factories of any consequence, except the Saline for the manufacture of salt; nor much of trade, except in the bathing season. The nearest railroad connection is at Schweinfurt, some fifteen miles distant.

Kissingen has an elevation of five hundred feet above the level of the sea, and, therefore, a salubrious climate. If it was situate much higher, sudden changes of the temperature would be felt too keenly by the patients, and if lower, the heat of the summer would become oppressive, and likewise interfere with a successful cure. A healthy climate, dry roads, well shaded lawns for taking walks, an excellent orchestra, which discourses delicious music from six to eight o'clock in the morning and evening in the cure-garden for the benefit of the guests, a library and reading-room, a tolerably good theatre from eight to ten o'clock in the evening, shooting-houses, billards, ten-pin alleys, and other recreative entertainments do much assist the mineral springs and the (many) physicians, to effect a cure. While the use of all kinds of liquors in connection with the drinking of the several mineral waters is generally forbidden, the above mentioned recreations are much recommended by the doctors and much resorted to by the patients. It gives them exercise, appetite, rest, sleep; it does them real good, especially if the mind is free of business, and other cares. Gambling is not allowed at Kissingen, and is now prohibited in every one of the numerous bathing places of Germany, except Wiesbaden, Hamburg, and some third town, the name of which I do not recollect.

The tables of the boarding houses and restaurants are supplied with such victuals as are considered healthy by the physicians, and enumerated as such in the "guide for the guests"—a little useful book. The buildings, beds, streets, &c., are kept very clean; the attention paid by the landlords, their servants, &c., must satisfy every stranger, and the arrangements in general for the accomodation of patients, of classes and various means, show the eagerness of the citizens of Kissingen to please, and to give satisfaction. Even the prices they charge during the season, though somewhat higher than during the rest of the year, may be called very moderate. There ought to be more such bathing places in the United States, based on similar arrangements and accessible to every class of people, rich and poor.

Such institutions are beneficial to every nation, especially for those in Southern climates, where chronic diseases are so frequent, such as liver-complaints, rheumatism, &c.—diseases that are so apt to be overcome by bathing. Besides, such places may operate as preventatives in many instances. Inhabitants of large cities, whose business and circumstances would allow them to exchange the city for the country, for a few summer months, would often use the opportunity, if it was offered to them on reasonable terms. The purses of comparatively few allow them to stay at places like the Saratoga Springs; and other bathing places, so far as I know them, are either wanting in suitable arrangements to make them attractive and to accommodate the various classes of people, being conducted on too small scales, like Bedford and Uniontown, or fail to afford other requisites for sanitary and recreative purposes.

Surely there is no want of mineral waters in the United States, nor a want of means and willingness to support institutions of the kind, if they are properly planned and conducted. Since our Government cannot and will not engage in speculations of this kind, and as the necessary outlay therefore would be too great for individuals, let joint stock companies take the matter into their hands. In my humble opinion there is not only real merit in them, but the great gratitude of suffering mankind, but also pecuniary profit, if judiciously selected, planned and carried out. Many thousands of dollars going now to European bathing places, would remain in our own country. Attorney Sherwood, of New York, our friend, who has been travelling for nearly two years on this continent, and now uses the Rakoczy for drinking, the Saal for bathing, (as also does his wife,) is of the same opinion, to wit: That we should do more for that kind of summer resort in the United States. To enable some of our friends, that are experts in analytical chemistry, to find springs similar to those of Kissingen and other celebrated wells of Germany, we have been collecting all possible sources of reliable scientific information on the subject, and will take pleasure to furnish them with the same on our return. Those wells generally contain twenty different ingredients, amongst which chlorkalinm, chlornetrinm, chlormagnesinm, sulphate of magnesia, sulphate of lime and carbonate of lime predominate. In the different wells they exist in various proportions. In all of them more or less of iron is found.

The Empress of Austria, who was here for six weeks this season, left last Saturday for Vienna. This is the third summer she spent at Kissingen, where she regained her health; for when she came here the first summer, she could not walk at all. She is now apparently as well as could be. On Friday evening we had a rich treat of fireworks, arranged in honor of her before her departure. She is much liked by every person here on account of her affability, while the Emperor, who did not even visit her while she was here, can't claim much attachment among the Bavarians, though the Empress is a Bavarian princess. I intend to stay another week, and hardly know as yet where my next letter will be dated.

Yours, &c., H. P. M.

The following appeared in a portion of our issue yesterday morning.

The Revival of Business.

[From the (N. Y.) Economist.]

At last, we witness the general renewal of business activity which has been expected to succeed the war. The past fortnight has been one of the most remarkable, for trading excitement, in the history of New York commerce. The entire Union has had a full representation of its merchants in our markets; all of whom bring large orders for merchandise and want to have them immediately executed. It would appear as though the entire community had suddenly awoke to the fact that they need almost everything a civilized public consume, and were intent upon ending the severe economy of war times, and celebrating the return of peace, by supplying themselves with every commodity they could desire,—a most sensible and wholesome jubilee, none will deny. A glance at our chief business streets will reveal such a scene of activity as has not greeted the eye during the four sad years happily closed. Men of every State and Territory in the Union are hurrying to and fro in search of goods they cannot find, and snatching up almost anything they can lay hands upon, the markets being absolutely bare of merchandise. In nearly all branches of industry, there is a scarcity of hands, so that it is impossible to produce the ordinary quantity of goods.

The cotton mills, after using extraordinary efforts to procure hands, are unable to run more than two-thirds of their machinery, and should September prove a dry month, many of the mills run by water-power will be compelled to stop their works until the return of rains. The woolen mills, though possessing a much larger productive ability than before the war, are yet unable to keep up with the demand for goods,—a fact, however, in part attributable to the special preference shown for fine fabrics, of which a given amount of machinery produces a much less quantity of goods than it would of commoner fabrics. From these causes, the production is necessarily limited, and, in fact, very much below the current demand. Probably at no period since 1836, has the production of cotton and woolen fabrics been engaged so far ahead of delivery as to-day. The same condition of things prevails among the importers. Although the importation is very largely ahead of that for the same period of last Fall, yet there is the greatest scarcity of all kinds of goods, and buyers find it impossible to assort their stocks. In the foreign market, as in the domestic, there is a decided preference for the finer class of fabrics, while low priced goods are taken only because it is impossible to find sufficient of better qualities.

Of course, the result of such a condition of things is a great advance in prices. The ordinary estimates of value are for the moment disregarded. No one asks the price of cotton, or nicely calculates how much it costs to make standard sheetings, to produce Gilbert's flannels, or Harris' cassimeres. "Bearing" the market is out of the question; all are, by the force of circumstances, "bulls;" and naturally prices ,every day go higher. This is all well; it is in strict conformity with the law of supply and demand, and could not be otherwise. But let none dream that this manufacturers' harvest will continue forever. The current large profits are sure to induce an early increase of the supply, and we may confidently anticipate a piling up of stocks as the sequel of the present scarcity.

One very gratifying feature of the markets is the large number of Southern merchants present. Many of them proceed first of all to their old creditors and make a settlement of their anti-war debts. Some come with cotton vouchers, which being guaranteed by insurance companies are found available for the purchase of goods. Others bring gold; others greenbacks; others State stocks or other securities, and others come equipped with bank credits. Their purchases are not individually large, averaging from $5,000 to $15,000; but the aggregate of their transactions is a material element in the prevailing activity. With but rare exceptions, the spirit of the Southern merchants is praiseworthy. They talk freely of the past; regard the war as a most unfortunate family quarrel; appear glad to recognize the perpetuation of the family relation, and to renew their former commercial relations. Judging from the men who represent here the commercial class of the South, we have but little to fear politically from that section. They have no idea of being other than law-abiding citizens, and would be the very last to give their influence to the promotion of new political troubles.

It is a noteworthy fact that the present immense transactions are done to a very large extent upon cash terms. This is not surprising, considering that the large circulation of government credits lessens the requirements for individual credits. It is not to be expected, however, that the cash basis will be long perpetuated. For the last four years, while business has been contracted and the government has been steadily issuing its promises to pay, it has been perfectly easy to dispense with the use of trade credits. But as trade gradually expands we shall find the necessity for credit renewed, and shall steadily lapse back into our former methods of doing business.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

FOR MORE THAN TWENTY YEARS Matthews' VENETIAN HAIR DYE has stood the test of trial, and is constantly increasing in public favor.

The VENETIAN HAIR DYE is the best and cheapest made. Its price is only 75 cents, and each bottle contains double the quantity of dye in those usually sold for $1.

THIS HAIR DYE is manufactured by a peculiar process, which renders it infinitely superior to any dye in the market. Being complete in one bottle, no preparation is required, which greatly simplifies the application.

IN USING THIS DYE, you avoid that RUSTY, DEAD appearance by which dyed hair and whiskers are so readily recognized, when an inferior article has been used, as it produces a perfectly natural color of any shade that is desired, from a rich brown to a jetty, lustrous black, that will not smut, crock or stain the clothing. Invest 75 cents, and you will be convinced. Sold by all druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers.

FOR SALE OR RENT.

VALUABLE IRON PROPERTY FOR SALE.

TENNESSEE ROLLING WORKS.

We will offer for sale on the 2d DAY OF OCTOBER, 1865, on the premises, the valuable Iron Property known as the

Tennessee Rolling Works,

with 6440 acres of Land, about 600 acres good Farming Land cleared and under fence, situated on the Cumberland River, fifty miles above the mouth, in Lyon county, Kentucky, embracing a large and complete Rolling Mill, a Forge with twenty Nobbling Fires, a Machine Shop containing Lathes, Boring and Planing Machines, with a Boiler and Engine to run separate from Mill, with a Grist Mill attached, a large Warehouse, Dry Goods Store, Brick Office, and a large number of Dwellings for workmen. Also about Forty Thousand Bushels of Stone Coal, and Sixty Thousand Bushels of Charcoal.

The above Iron Works have been in successful operation for a number of years, and the reputation of the Iron fully established, with a capacity for making Five or Six Thousand Tons of superior Charcoal Iron yearly—unsurpassed by any manufactory in the United States. The facilities for obtaining Pig Iron are superior to any establishment in the West, there being three Charcoal Furnaces within one to three miles of the Mill, capable of producing Seven or Eight Thousand Tons of Pig Iron yearly.

The facilities for obtaining cheap supplies of Corn, Pork and other articles, are unsurpassed.

Shipments of Iron can be made to the mouth of Cumberland River all seasons of the year.

TERMS OF SALE.

The Rolling Mill, Forge and Lands thereto attached, Tools, embracing Mill, Forge and Blacksmith Tools, and Weighing Scales, are to be sold on a credit of one, two and three and four years from date, with approved security, and lien retained until the purchase money is paid.

It is understood that the purchaser of the mill, lands and fixtures is to take the wrought iron and cast iron scraps, stone coal, charcoal, farming tools, carpenter tools, corn, hay, mules, cattle, hogs, iron safe and fixtures in office, wagons, carts, medicines, etc., and pay cash at a fair valuation, two disinterested men to fix said valuation; in case they do not agree, to call in a third man.

The object of the sale is to close up said business agreeably to the articles of co-partnership.

Capitalists wishing to invest in a profitable Iron property will do well to examine the same, when competent men will be ready at all times to show the property, and give particulars until day of sale.

Messrs. T. & H. GAUGHAN & CO., No. 116 Broadway, New York, extensive manufacturers and importers of all the leading and most fashionable styles of Watches and Jewelry, desiring to increase their business to an unlimited extent, have resolved upon a Great Gift Distribution, subject to the regulations following:

Certificates naming each article and its value, are placed in Sealed Envelopes and well mixed. One of these envelopes will be sent by mail to any address on receipt of twenty-five cents.

All articles sold at One Dollar each, without regard to value.

On receipts of the certificate you will see what you are going to have, and then it is at your option to send the dollar and take the article or not. Purchasers may thus obtain a Gold Watch, Diamond Ring, or any set of Jewelry on our list for One Dollar, and in no case can they get less than one dollar's worth. The price of Certificates is as follows:—One for 25c; five for $1; eleven for $2; thirty for $5; sixty-five for $10; one hundred for $15.

Agents wanted everywhere, to whom special terms are offered. T. & H. GAUGHAN & Co.,

SPEERS' SAMBURG WINE,
PURE, AND FOUR YEARS OLD,
OF CHOICE OPORTO GRAPE,
FOR PHYSICIANS' USE,
For FEMALES, WEAKLY PERSONS & INVALIDS.
EXCELLENT WINE FOR FEMALES.

Every family at this season should use the SAMBURG WINE, celebrated in Europe for its medicinal and beneficial qualities, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals, and by some of the first families in Europe and America.

AS A TONIC it has no equal, causing an appetite and building up the system, being entirely a pure wine of a most valuable grape.

AS A DIURETIC it imparts a healthy action of the Glands, Kidneys and Urinary Organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic Affections.

SPEER'S WINE is a pure article from the Juice of the Port Grape, possessing medical properties superior to any other wine in use, and an excellent article for all weak and debilitated persons, and the aged and infirm, improving the appetite, and benefitting ladies and children. Try it once, and you will not be deceived.

Be sure the signature of ALFRED SPEER is over the cork of each bottle.

Sold by N. McCLARREN & Co., JOS. FLEMMING FRED. BRAUN, ALFRED J. RANKIN, and J. M. FULTON. In Allegheny, by GEO. A. KELLY & Co. and S. R. SOMETHING NEW.
METAL HYDROMETERS,
That will not break or get out of order, for Testing Carbon Oil.
Having succeeded, "by dint of close study and application," in producing a Hydrometer in metal for testing Carbon Oil, I respectfully offer it to the attention of Dealers and those engaged in Refining, as an article that will not break or get out of order; its adjustment being so simple that any one may readily understand it. To those constantly using this instrument it will be found a great boon, as an article that has long been inquired after, and which needs only to be seen to be appreciated.

WEDNESDAY, September 6—P. M.

In our local stock market we can hear of no transactions, excepting a sale of Columbia at 25½. The list of the Bankers' and Brokers' Board show some very low prices asked for what were at one time considered good oil companies, and we presume a lower bid would readily purchase many of them. A well like that of the last one on the United States occurring on one of our local company's property, would send the stock up like a rocket, and so far as the locality and other circumstances are concerned, there is really no reason why such a strike should not at any day occur. Bank stocks are firm, and sell readily when offered at a very fair advance above par. Fourth National, 112; Citizens', 81½; Merchants', 55¾; Bank of Pittsburgh, 61; Iron City inquired for at 80½; People's National at 104, and Third National, 125.

—The oil stock market in New York to-day was dull and prices did not change materially from yesterday. United States at morning Board brought 28; Pithole Creek 8¾; Webster 180; and at the afternoon Board Oil Creek sold down to 335, without any change in United States, Pithole Creek or Webster, which were firm at the prices of the morning Board. The weather continues extremely hot, and operators are out of town, and it cannot be expected that much activity will prevail until after the heated term.

In Philadelphia the only oil stock on the list that has changed for the better is Sugar Creek, and it holds its advance figure. The others can scarcely maintain a nominal value.

—The following comparative statement shows the average condition of the leading items of the Philadelphia Banks for the past and previous week:

	Aug. 28.	Sept. 2.
Capital	$14,442,450	$14,442,350
Loans	50,577,243	50,096,399	Dec.	$480,744
Specie	1,155,197	1,100,242	Dec.	54,855
Legal Tenders	19,640,768	19,038,164	Dec.	502,604
Deposits	38,864,910	38,417,473	Dec.	447,437
Circulation	6,983,323	6,981,826	Dec.	2,497

The bank exhibit of averages this week shows a decline in each of the several leading items. The decline in legal-tender notes is largest, $602,604; the loans fell off $480,744, and the deposits, $447,437.

—The last statement of the Associated Banks of New York, reflects an easy condition of monetary affairs: The loans show an increase of more than two millions, the deposits of nearly a million and a quarter, the legal tender notes of three millions, and the circulation of half a million. The specie, however, has experienced a further decrease of more than half a million, leaving only $14,143,827 in the banks.

The trifling increase of only $436,296 in the national debt between the end of July and the end of August, has been the subject of favorable comment at all the financial points. It shows that the hitherto great borrower—Government—has been out of the market during that time; but, nevertheless, its disbursements have been going forward actively. Thus the amount of currency in the Treasury on the 31st of July was $81,401,774, whereas on the 31st of August this sum had been reduced to $42,782,283, a difference of $38,618,491. The five per cent. temporary loan has increased more than eleven millions and a half, while the six per cent. temporary loan has decreased more than three millions and a half; and the old certificates have been taken up so much more rapidly than the new have been paid out that there is a decrease under this head of more than twenty-one millions and a half. The one and two years' five per cent. notes have been reduced six millions, and the three years' compound interest notes have increased to within a trifle of five millions. The fractional currency shows an increase of more than half a million, and the suspended requisitions have been reduced more than twelve millions and a half. The "coin in the Treasury" has increased more than ten millions, notwithstanding the reported sales of the Treasury from time to time.

—The receipts from Internal Revenue last Monday reached the unprecedented sum of four millions two hundred thousand dollars, being one million seven hundred and sixty-eight thousand eight hundred and eighty-five dollars greater than the receipts of any former day.

—The prices of Copper Stocks in Boston yesterday were as follows:

Central	40	Isle Royal	11
Copper Falls	23¾	Minnesota	9¼
Franklin	36½	Quincy	55¼
Hancock	8	Rockland	3½
Huron	42¼	Superior	3¼

—The following items from the statements of the three Western Railroad companies, show a continued prosperity, and an increase over the previous year's earnings:

The comparative earnings of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway for the fourth week in August:

1865	$221,176
1864	197,590
Increase	$23,586

The following are the comparative earnings of the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad for the fourth week in August:

1865	$98,579
1864	98,962
Decrease	$383

For the month of August:

1865	$288,095
1864	271,140
Increase	$16,955

Annexed are the earnings of the Detroit and Milwaukee Railroad for the fourth week in August:

1865	$37,117
1864	33,089
Increase	$4,028

Cincinnati Iron and Nail Market.

September 5.—Market firm and the demand good at $45@50 for foundry, and $55@60 for cold blast. No. 1 brand scarce.

Merchant bars, 4½c for B, 5¾c for C.
Sheet, 6¾@8¾c for B, 9¾@11¾ for C.
Cast scrap iron, 1@1½c.
Wrought scrap iron, 1½@2c.
Hot blast pig iron, $50 per ton.
Cold blast pig iron, $58 per ton.

Nails—A continued good demand prevails, and prices are again higher, the market closing firm at an advance. Stocks are light and holders are not disposed to meet the demand freely at our quotations. We quote:

10 to 60d	$5 82@5 90
8 to 9d	6 05@6 15
6 to 7d	6 30@6 40
4 to 5d	6 52@6 65
3d	7 05@7 10
2d	8 05@8 10
3d, fine blued	8 95@8 10
2d do	9 05@9 10
Cut spikes	9 05@6 10

The terms for selling manufactured iron have been changed to cash basis. This necessity has been brought about, as all articles going into the manufacture of iron are sold only for cash. The market is very firm, with a good demand.

Louisville Iron and Nail Market.

September 4.—Pig Iron—Hot Blast $52@55; Cold Blast $60@62.

Iron and Nails—The trade during the week has been brisk. Nails are scarce with an upward tendency in prices. We quote: Nails, 6@6½c; stone coal bar iron, 4¼@5c; charcoal do, 6¼@6½c; sheet iron, heavy sizes, 6½c; Juniata sheet iron, 13c; steel slabs, 11c; steel wings, 14c.

Exports of Boots and Shoes.

The Boston Shipping List says, for California there is some inquiry, but the quantity going forward is comparatively small. No shipments from this port or New York the past week.

The quantity cleared at the Custom House has been as follows:

	1865.	1864.
For the week, cases	4,021	1,602
Since January 1st	44,637	54,286
Total	48,858	55,888

Showing a falling off compared with last year of 7,230 cases.

Soap and Candles at Cincinnati.

Star candles advanced 1c ℔ lb, and the tendency of other articles is toward higher prices, though, with the above exception, no change has yet taken place. We quote:

Star candles full weight, ℔ lb	28c.
" 14 oz	25c.
Opal candles	25c.
Common tallow candles	18½c.
Tallow candles pressed	19c.
German soap	14c.
German extra	14½c.

Oils at Cincinnati.

Linseed oil sold in small lots at $1 70, but many decline to sell at less than $1 75. The rapid advance has, however, checked the demand, and buyers in many cases expect a reaction in prices, and are disposed to hold back for further developments. Lard oil is quiet but firm at $2@2 05 for No. 1 and extra of current make. Winter strained is held at $2 10@2 15. Refined Petroleum is selling at 68@70c, duty free.

Coal at Cincinnati.

There is but a limited amount at the river unsold, and the rates by the barge-load are merely nominal. The retail prices were advanced during the week to 22@24c for Ohio River, and 26c for Youghiogheny.

PITTSBURGH GENERAL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY COMMERCIAL, THURSDAY, September 7, 1865.

Business was not very active since the date of our last report. Dealers have no disposition to operate to any extent at the present figures, hence we have no large sales to record. The receipts of produce have fallen off, but there is, however, sufficient coming in to supply the wants of the jobbing trade. Bacon—The supply being nearly exhausted the market has settled down to inactivity, a few parcels of Shoulders and Sides being pretty much all that remains of last year's supplies. Of Plain and Sugar-cured Hams the market was bare, and the season is pretty much over. Grain—The demand has fallen off, and concessions would have to be made before large sales could be effected. The supply exceeds the demand. Wheat was the leading article, but the sales were not large. Oats would rank next. Eggs were in active demand at full prices. Butter remains scarce accompanied with steep prices. Flour—The market was steady but not very active. Holders generally are not disposed to give way, hence we have but few sales to record. Cheese—Firm with plenty of purchasers. The sales were liberal. Apples—The receipts were fully up with the demand prices being governed by the quality. Potatoes—The receipts are on the increase; Jersey sweets range from $4 00@5 00 ℔ bbl. Business on the landing was moderately active. The Forest City left for Parkersburg with a good trip of freight and passengers. The Minerva took an early departure for Cincinnati with all the freight she could manage. The Yorktown, for St. Louis, was crowded. The new packet "Gleaner" will be found at the landing from Parkersburg. She will return at noon, so make ready for the oil regions. The Allegheny river is reported rising, with most of the side streams running in. Below will be found the sales that came under our notice.

CEMENT.—The market was steady; we note sales of 50 bbls at $2 50 per bbl. Stocks moderate.

EGGS.—The supply was short of the demand, hence the prices continue steep; sales of 300 dozen at 20c; 6 bbls at 20@22c.

BUTTER.—The market remains firm, with a good demand; prices rule high; among the sales were 500 lbs fresh roll at 30c; 10 kegs and 6 packages do. at same price.

HAY.—The receipts were not large, but were sufficient to meet the wants of the home trade; sales of 10 loads at scales at $17@20.

GRAIN.—The market was not very active; buyers generally are holding off for lower prices. Oats—Sales of 300 bus from store at 48c; 1 car bulk at 43c; 1 car do. with use of sacks at 43c; 2 cars on track at 45c; 200 bush from store at 46c. Corn dull, with sales of 200 bush shelled at 70c. Barley—New sells at $1. Wheat—Choice winter red finds purchasers; sales of 500 bush from store at $2. Rye dull; nothing doing.

SALT.—The market was steady with a good local demand; we note sales of 140 bbls at $2 50, on track. The stock on the market at present is not large.

FLOUR—Prices have ruled steadily for some days past. The sales were confined to lots to supply the jobbing trade of the city. The receipts have fallen off. The principal inquiry was for the better grades. Among the sales were extra family; 150 barrels winter wheat, $10@$10 25; 40 barrels do, same figures; 200 barrels do, $10 00@$10 25; 80 barrels do, $10 00 per barrel. Sales of 50 barrels spring wheat at $9 00@$9 50, the latter figure for a choice article.

LEAD—The supply is becoming exhausted, and prices have further advanced. We note sales of 200 pigs Galena at 11c.

ASHES—We have no change to note. Sales 4 tons pearls, from store, at 8½c per pound.

PIG IRON—The market remains firm, with a fair inquiry. Sales 300 tons Mahoning Valley, at $45 00, time.

CHEESE—The market seemed firmer. The late advance has been maintained, with sales as follows: 30 boxes Goshen, 20c; 40 boxes Hamburg, 18c; 30 boxes W. R., 17c, and 10 boxes Goshen at 20½.

APPLES—The operations were only small. Prices ranged from $3 00 to $5 00 per barrel.

GRAPES—We note sales of 12 boxes (20 pounds) at $3 00 per box.

POTATOES—The market was well supplied with the various descriptions. Sales of 20 bbls "Jersey Sweet" at $4 50@5 00 ℔ bbl.

WHISKY—Demand improving and prices looking up. Sales of 20 bbls city rectified at $2 25.

QUINCES—We note sales of 10 bushels, the first transaction of the season, at $3 50 ℔ bushel.

MALT—The market was not very active. Sales of 300 bushels of barley malt at $1 75.

HOPS—We note sales of 10 bales Michigan, old, at 50c. The market was not very active.

BACON—The market was firm, owing to light supplies. The stock is pretty much exhausted, with a fair jobbing demand. The rates were: Shoulders, 18c; sides ribbed, 19c; plain hams, 24c. Sugar cured hams range from 31@30.

SEEDS—Market inactive. Sales of 2 bbls timothy at $4 00. Flax inquired for—it would command good figures.

GROCERIES—We continue to notice a firm market, with a good demand for home purposes. As prices were unchanged we omit them.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, Thursday, September 7, 1865.

Business was not very extensive. As regards crude oil the market was very firm, with a large inquiry for this article. The stock on hand has been reduced to a low ebb. This fact increased the firmness of holders, who were firm at 21c without packages, or bulk at 26c, packages included. Purchasers were anxious to close contracts for any reasonable amount for October and November delivery at the figures we have named, and take the chances of the market. The receipts of crude by the Allegheny river amounted to 643 bbls. The prospect for a steamboat rise in that stream is favorable. Dispatches were received from various points on the Allegheny at Oil City. The weather was rainy and the river swelling. At Franklin there were twenty-four inches, and at Brady's Bend, four feet. A number of boats that were on the way laid up, started for the oil regions. As a number of boats are known to be on the way down, an increase may be looked for before the close of the week. In our market holders were firm—buyers were plenty. The ruling figures were 21c without, and 26c with packages. The market will no doubt become more settled as the receipts increase; at present the advantage being on the side of holders. Refined oil—Market firm, with a further advance. In fact, holders have matters their own way. A further advance was established in bonded, with a liberal amount of transactions.

CRUDE—There was no stock to operate on, and dealers were not disposed to contract for future delivery. The only operations reported were, 250 bbls, 21c, without packages; 250 bbls do, to arrive, 21c. Other small sales were made at the same range.

REFINED OIL—Was active, with a good demand for future and present delivery. Sales 1,000 bbls bonded for October, F. O. B., Standard, 47c. This was the Philadelphia market, 1,000 bbls Brilliant. November delivery, West Philadelphia, 55c: 100 bbls, Straw color, bonded, 44½c, on the spot; 500 bbls, light straw to white, F. O. B., Nevada brand, 47c; 1,000 bbls bonded, November, 47c; 300 bbls do, on spot, 47c; 400 bbls bonded, immediate delivery, Philadelphia, 55c. Free oil was dull—we did not learn of any transactions.

TAR AND NAPTHA—Were not in much favor, prices nominal.

New York Finance and Trade.

NEW YORK, September 6.

STOCKS

The stock market is moderately active and shows less spirit and firmness. The tone is feverish and holders appear desirous to realize on the late advance. Erie took a downward turn at the board. Cleveland and Pittsburgh active and made an advance, Ohio and Mississippi certificates quiet but firm. Stock market a little stronger at the second board and steady at the last board, but business was light. Government stocks steady. There is good inquiry for old 5-20s, based upon foreign orders but they are scarce and tend toward higher quotations. State bonds and miscellaneous shares quiet and steady.

GOLD

Stronger on account of the large export demand, and some purchases for speculation. Money is unchanged.

PETROLEUM STOCKS

Were active to-day, with sales at the following rates: Rocky Run, 43; Oil Run, 45; Adamantine, 1 05; Inexhaustible, 35; Pithole Creek, 8 75; Plummer, 3 00; Buchanan Farm, 65; Excelsior, 1 22; Tack, 40; United States, 27 85; Webster 1 80; Central 19 50; Oceanic 97; Oil Creek, 3 30; Watson, 90.

PETROLEUM

Market firm and prices higher for all descriptions; crude is in demand at 33c; refined, in bond, at 52½@55c, and free at 71@74c.

DRY GOODS

Have been quite active thus far in the week, and the volume of business continues large. A number of jobbers from the principal cities of the west have gone home but will probably be back again shortly to replenish their stocks as trade has been as proportionately active as here. There are a great many country retailers in the city at present, who are buying quite liberally. The prices of domestic fabrics are steadily advancing. Foreign goods are firm, but do not advance like domestic fabrics.

Departed.

Gallatin	A. S. Carlisle	Brownsville.
Telegraph	Bougher	Brownsville.
Franklin	Carmack	Brownsville.
Minerva	Johnston	Cincinnati.
Forest City	Gordon	Parkersburg.
Yorktown	Ebert	Saint Louis.

THE RIVER.—Last evening at twilight, the river was rising slowly. The Allegheny pier marks indicated six feet nine inches; the rise being from that stream. The Monongahela pier marks were: old marks five feet ten inches; new marks four feet ten inches.

BUSINESS on the landing was moderately active, the shipments of freight being liberal to most points.

THE steamer Nevada, Capt. Evans, has her sign up for St. Louis and way points.

THE Brownsville packets continue to transact a large business both ways, travel on that route being brisk.

THE departures yesterday included the Yorktown for St. Louis, Minerva for Cincinnati, and Forest City for Parkersburg.

THE fine steamer Delaware, Capt. Horton, leaves this day for Cincinnati and Louisville. This boat has superior accommodations and is in charge of careful and attentive officers. We take pleasure in recommending boat and officers.

HO! FOR PARKERSBURG AND THE VIRGINIA OIL REGIONS.—The new and splendid passenger steamer Gleaner, Capt. J. H. Porter, leaves to-day at noon for the above and intermediate ports. This boat has unsurpassed accommodations: she was built expressly for the trade, is entirely new, and has been constructed altogether in a superior manner. Capt. Porter having procured a splendid new piano, the lady passengers on this boat cannot fail to have a good time generally. The Gleaner's performance the present trip, was all that could be desired. The first clerk is Mr. E. Porter, an officer that will see that passengers are well cared for.

Boating on the Alabama.

The Montgomery Ledger of the 16th says: The river is gradually reaching low water mark, but is still navigable for small draft boats, a supply of which will soon be put on the line between here and Mobile. There were only two or three steamboat arrivals at the wharf last week, bringing light cargoes and not waiting to take in down freight. Parties are now out west for the purpose of purchasing light draft boats to supply the wants of the trade in this section. Transportation is so scarce and the desire to ship so strong, that as much as thirty-five dollars per bale of cotton to Mobile has been offered here recently; fifty dollars has been paid lower down the river. We may be compelled to fall back on flat-boats, as in the earliest years of our city, a cheap, and safe, if not expeditious mode of navigation.

Cincinnati.

September 6.—We condense the following from the Commercial: The river is on a stand, with five feet scant hence to Louisville, and four feet in the canal. The Tennessee is still falling, by last accounts. Latest advices report 39 inches on Harpeth Shoals, in the Cumberland, and rising. There are 12 feet in the Mississippi from St. Louis to Cairo.

The Citizen left for Pittsburgh, flying light, with the exception of a small lot of freight reshipped from the Starlight and Silver Lake No. 4.

BOATS DUE.—Kenton, Armadillo, and Wauanita, from St. Louis, and Golden Eagle and Nannie Byers, from Memphis, are among the first boats due here.

The Emperor and Havana have been chartered by the Mail company for the Louisville trade during low water. The Emperor left last night after the People's Line packet Potomac.

The propeller Scioto No. 2, arrived from Portsmouth yesterday, with a cargo of pig iron.

Mr. Jno. N. Patton, of Cairo, is at the Spencer House, en route from the mountains of Pennsylvania for the famed Egyptian city. Mr. Patton has fully recovered his health.

Captain Honshall yesterday chartered the Pine Grove for the Big Sandy trade, to ply in connection with the Robert Moore, during low water.

Louisville.

September 5.—The Democrat says: The river was about at a stand or falling very slowly, last evening, with scant 4 feet water in the canal by the mark. During the previous 24 hours the river had fallen less than an inch at the head of the falls and about 2 inches at Portland. The weather continues very warm, the thermometer ranging at 87, with two or three light showers of rain.

On the falls last evening there were 21 inches water in the pass down the Indian chute.

By special dispatch from Nashville we learn that heavy rains had fallen in that region on Sunday, and that the Cumberland was briskly rising yesterday, and five feet water anticipated on the shoals.

The Huntsville at Portland is loading for Nashville direct, and we hope one or two more boats will offer for the Cumberland river, and thus relieve the Nashville road of its over pressure of freights.

The rates of freight to Nashville by the railroad are from 60 to 80 cents per hundred pounds, as to classification. The average rate by river will be less than the railroad rate, unless the unusual low stage of the Ohio should cause a slight advance.

ROW BOATS.—There are two or three organized boat clubs in the city, one of which "house" their favorite, the Winona in the Mail Line wharf-boat.

The river trade at Memphis on the 31st was very dull, with no arrivals for White or Arkansas rivers, both of which were low and falling.

The Nantucket left Memphis on the 31st with one thousand bales of cotton for the East. She was due yesterday.

SUMMER RESORTS.

FAYETTE SPRINGS.
WIGGINS & BUNTING,
Proprietors.
This delightful Mountain WATERING PLACE is now open for visitors and no pains or expense will be spared to give universal satisfaction. The well known medical virtues of the water, the cool mountain air, romantic scenery and classic grounds surrounding this locality, give it peculiar attractions.
"Fort Necessity," Washington's First Battle-field, Gen. Braddock's and Dumonville's Graves, Dunbar's Camp, and other historic localities are all within an hours ride. Also, Delaney's Cave, Pine Knob view, the Trout and Blowing Springs, the Cucumber Cascade, Meadow-run Falls, and the Great Ohio Pile Falls on the Youghiogheny river, are in the immediate neighborhood.
Two daily trains will bring visitors from Pittsburgh to Uniontown in a few hours, when Coaches will always be ready to carry them, by a pleasant drive of eight miles on the "National Road" to the Springs.
